U.N. Assembly Delays Vote On Ike's A-Plan

French Premier Slated For Address; Russians Reverse Stand Again

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan played second fiddle in the U. N. Assembly today to the first appearance of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France before the international organization.

The Assembly temporarily shelved consideration of the Western proposal for peaceful application of atomic energy to hear a major policy speech by the French premier.

There was considerable speculation that Mendes-France would voice some special French pronouncement on the atomic question. In line with this, the French delegation to the U. N. announced that Francois P. Perrin, chairman of the French atomic energy commission, had flown here from Paris to act as speech counselor.

Approval of the American proposal for a peaceful act energy program was delayed in the Assembly's chief Political Committee by Russian amendments submitted late Saturday.

* * *

DESPITE PREVIOUS indications of East-West agreement, the Soviets suddenly revived their demand that the proposed international atomic agency be placed under the veto-hampered Security Council and that the door be left open to invite Communist China to the proposed conference on atomic energy.

The United States and its six cosponsors of the Western resolution remained adamant in the opposition to both propostions. They appeared certaoin of the votes to reject the Soviet amendments, but negotiations with the Soviets continued.

He voiced certainty that the world "can achieve peace, but that the Western nations must be united and must work together."

He predicted that all the Western nations involved would ratify the Paris accords, including the French-German agreement on the Saar. Of the widespread criticism of the Saar pact, he said:

"When an international agreement is criticized by both sides, it is a good one."

He said he could see no justification for Russian charges that the rearming of Germany would increase the danger of war. The greatest danger of war, he asserted, would exist should the Western nations become dispersed "or even enemies of each other."

Allies Set To Use H-Bomb To Defend West Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for the defense of Western Europe now appear to include the use of the hydrogen bomb on the battlefield, to provide a crushing, ill-destructive force where tactical nuclear fission bombs or projectiles might be inadequate.

Recent generalized and laconic references by American military officials to utilizing whatever weapons and tactics are required to counter aggression have been sharpened by a comment from the deputy supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

The British strategist says:

"I want to make it absolutely clear that we at SHAPE (the Paris headquarters of the supreme command) are basing all our operational planning on using atomic and thermonuclear weapons in our defense.

"With us it is no longer 'They may possibly be used.' It is very definitely 'They will be used, if we are attacked.'"

Montgomery made the significant statement Oct. 21 in a speech before the Royal United Services Institution in London.

Montgomery arrives in Washington this week during a visit to the United States. On Wednesday, he is scheduled to meet with Pentagon officials and later to fly to Augusta, Ga., to spend Thanksgiving with President Eisenhower.

Beginning today, the Military Committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization starts a series of meetings for a periodic assessment of the status of Western European military defense, including consideration of the impact of new weapons on the pattern of defense forces. There seemed the possibility that Montgomery might visit, informally, at least one of the committee sessions, to be held in the Pentagon.

In his paper, Montgomery said:

"There are some who say that if war is joined, nuclear weapons will not be used. I would disagree with that.

"My opinion is that the fear of atomic and themonuclear weapons is a powerful deterrent to war, but once a world hot war has started both sides are likely to use them. We would certainly use them ourselves if attacked."

Ex-Convict Points To 'Pal' As Possible Sheppard Killer

CLEVELAND (AP) — While the murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard entered its sixth week today, police investigated a former convict's story that his burglar pal may have slain the osteopath's wife.

Frail, mild - mannered Henry Fuehrer, 51, walked into a police station in a Cincinnati suburb yesterday and announced, "I've got something on my chest."

Then, officers said, he told of going to Bay Village on a burglary mission the night of July 3 and fleeing in panic after he heard yells, cursing and scuffling come from behind a house his companion had entered. Pregnant Marilyn Sheppard was found bludgeoned to death in her bed early in the morning of July 4.

Fuehrer was brought to Cleveland today for further questioning and to see whether he can identify the Sheppard house and a Cleveland bar in which he said he met his companion. He said he knew the other man only as "Pal."

* * *

DR. SHEPPARD, on trial for his life, has contended his wife was killed by a tall, bushy-haired man who twice knocked him unconscious in a battle that raged through the house and down on outside stairway to the Lake Erie beach below it. The state accuses the osteopath of bludgeoning her to death during a quarrel over his affairs with other women.

Fuehrer described his companion as about 6 feet 3, a 200-pounder with "heavy, brownish-black hair."

However, police of St. Bernard, another Cincinnati suburb, said they doubted the story told by Fuehrer.

Police Sgt. Edward Kuderer said the same man went to St. Bernard headquarters on Nov. 5 and told officers he had killed a man in Chicago about last July 11.

The FBI investigated, according to Kuderer, and Fuehrer was released on Nov. 11 when no such crime could be found.

Meanwhile, a Cleveland detective, continuing testimony, said Dr. Sam once admitted that he lied about his affair with a pretty hospital technician.

Detective Robert F. Schottke told Sheppard's murder jury from the witness stand that Sheppard made this admission to him on July 31, conceding that he stayed at the same home with Susan Hayes in California, and gave her a wristwatch.

* * *

PRIOR TO THAT, said Schottke, Sheppard denied he stayed with Miss Hayes at the home of a fellow osteopath, Dr. Arthur Miller, of near Los Angeles, last March.

Under questioning by Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Parrino, Schottke testified:

"We asked him about Susan Hayes and he said 'yes,' he had lied about her and did stay with her at the home of Dr. Miller, and he gave her a wristwatch.

"He said he told his wife about Susan so that someone else would not tell her first. We asked him if he had told his wife about other women, and he said yes. He said he always told her about other women because he did not want her to get the wrong impression if someone else told her."

Later, a fellow osteopath and old school friend testified that Dr. Sam "wanted to consider the possibility of divorce" four years ago.

The testimony was given by Dr. Lester Hoversten of Glendale, Calif., a key state witness to establish a motive for murder. He said he talked Sheppard out of sending a letter to his wife on the "possibility of divorce" in 1950.

"Dr. Sam asked my advice on a letter he had written Marilyn and I asked him as a favor not to send it at the time, but to wait until he could speak to her in person.

"It was to the effect he was concerned about his marriage and wanted to tell her how he felt and he felt he wanted to consider the possibility of a divorce."

U.S. Highway Funds Seen On Increase

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal funds available to the states on a matching basis for highway construction were almost doubled by the Federal Highways Act of 1954, the author of the act said today.

Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) headed a seven-man group of congressmen making a four-day inspection trip of Florida's roads.

The group left today for Key West to inspect the Overseas Highway. It will return here tonight and will go out again tomorrow on other inspection trips.

McGregor said that under the highways act, all the money produced by the two-cent per gallon federal tax on gasoline would be made available to the states on a dollar for dollar matching basis. The tax is expected to produce 966 million.

"Before this, only about half of this income was used for road purposes," McGregor said. "But now, all of it will be available."

"It will be the first time people who pay the two-cent tax on gasoline will get back every cent they put into it—and then some."

McGregor said his group, made up of members of the House Committee on Public Works, would wind up its inspections here by Thursday.

Girl's 'Help' Cry Proved Only Joke

CHICAGO (AP) — Ten-year-old Terry Stromberg tied a message to a gas-filled balloon a week ago and set it loose at her Chicago home.

"Help, please!" the message read. She signed her name and added her address.

Yesterday a farmer found the balloon in a field near Grand Junction, Mich., 75 miles northeast of Chicago, across Lake Michigan. He notified Michigan state police who, in turn, radioed here.

Two policemen went to Terry's home.

"Oh, I'm OK," the girl said. "I just wanted to see how far it would go."

Vishinsky Dies Of Heart Attack

The announcement was made by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, president of the U. N. assembly.

Word of the Soviet diplomats death quickly spread through the U. N., where President Eisenhowers atoms-for-peace proposal was under debate in the 60-nation political committee.

Even before the announcement came, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and numerous delegates already had begun expressing their sympathy to Arkady A. Sobolev, aide to the Soviet diplomat.

Shortly after Van Kleffens announced Vishinsky's death in the assembly, the chairman of the political committee interrupted a speech by India's V. K. Krishna Menon to make the same announcement.

All U. N. meetings for today adjourned out of respect to the Soviet delegate. The Assembly arranged to meet this afternoon, however, to pay respect to Vishinsky.

Couple Admits Poor Box Thefts

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A Novato, Calif., couple has told police of an eight-month country wide junket during which they robbed church poor boxes to pay their way.

George Skaggs, 43, and his wife, Lorna, 23, were arrested Friday after police matched their auto license plates with the number given them by the Rev. Fr. James Hickey of St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church. The priest said he took down the number when he saw a couple flee in the car after trying to break into the poor box of his church.

Mrs. Skaggs told police they had robbed between 60 and 75 church poor boxes. The haul ranged between $2 and $35.

U.S. Diplomats See Change In Soviet Policy

Little Boldness Noted In Kremlin Attitude Concerning Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet government apparently has concluded a policy reappraisal and decided against concessions or threats to block Western rearming of West Germany, American officials believe.

Russias latest moves to prevent the conversion of West Germany into a member of the anti-Soviet defense alliance are considered here obviously laking in boldness and effectiveness.

This is taken to mean that in a sense the Soviet government is resigned to German rearmament. The interpretation is that the Kremlin may have reached this attitude because (1) it was unwilling to let Germany be unified on Western terms and (2) it was unwilling to threaten seriously use of military forces against the west.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bholen is due here from Moscow, probably tomorrow, for talks opening Wednesday with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on Soviet policy and the state of relations between the United States and Russia.

* * *

DULLES AND French Premier Mendes-France announced Saturday that in their view the Western Powers should come through with "early ratification" of the agreements to make West Germany a defense partner. They thus rejected a public offer by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to delay a European security conference he has proposed provided the Western Powers were willing to delay ratification of the German treaty.

Dulles and Mendes-France, winding up four days of talks here, said that once the treaties are ratified they would be ready to go into "adequately prepared negotiations' with Russia but "not into improvised debates intended mainly for propaganda."

U.S. Expected To Be Rapped At Latin Talks

QUINTANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—Twenty-one American nations met here today for an economic conference that is expected to bring U. S. policy toward her Latin neighbors under heavy fire.

Statements expressing hemispheric solidarity were heard on all sides as the 250 delegates and experts to the Inter-American Economic Conference gathered at this hill resort 40 miles from Rio de Janeiro. But the United States, key country in all major economic and financial projects, already has indicated that she would go only a short way toward meeting the demands of other nations.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, chief of the U. S. delegation, arrived last night. He said the United States already "has shown its desire in many ways" to work with her hemisphere partners to develop their power, transportation and trade. He said he was confident the meeting would bring an even greater economic buildup. He is expected to unfold details of Washington's policy in a speech tomorrow.

Other delegates withheld criticism until the U. S. position was made known officially, but there was mounting sentiment that the United States is neglecting her aid funds around the world.

Northeastern U.S. Temperature Drops

CHICAGO (AP) — Temperatures dropped sharply in the northeastern part of the United States today as the weekend's heavy rains and snowfall tapered off.

A 25-degree drop since Sunday morning gave Concord, N. H., a 36 degrees this morning. Rains ended in most of New England during the night, but changed to snow.

Scattered showers, snow flurries, drizzle and fog continued over parts of the Great Lakes region and the Midwest. Rain also continued over the Northwest.

Ike Aides Taking Stands Against Tax Slashes In '55

WASHINTON (AP) — Sentiment within the Eisenhower administration appeared today to be running strongly against any new tax reduction next year unless business falters.

High officials of four federal agencies, which presumably will influence the shaping of President Eisenhowers recommendations to Congress in January, have indicated that a final decision on tax policy hinges on business developments of the next several weeks.

But each said the state of government finances (a $4.7 billion deficit is expected by June 30) does not justify further business or individual tax cuts, assuming that the economic recovery is still on the upbeat on Jan. 1.

This probably means that the administration not only will oppose a further income tax reduction, advocated by a number of the Democrats whose party will control the next Congress, but will take a stand against scheduled reductions in corporate income and excise tax rates.

* * *

THE ORPORATE tax rate is due to drop from 52 to 47 per cent on April 1, under present law.

Several excise levies, including those on automobiles and gasoline, also are due for reduction.

One of the officials said:

"We cannot afford any tax reduction in 1955. It is a pretty safe guess that the administration will oppose even the scheduled reductions.'

Another official, pointing to the likelihood of lower federal revenues next year, said:

"Unless the business situation calls for relief, I cannot see how we can initiate tax cuts.'

A third official said:

"If we get a strong economic expansion—and this is the probability—it would seem inappropriate to reduce taxes."

The fourth hinted that agreement had been reached to defer the tax decision until the end of the year, when "economic prospects may have clarified a lot.' He said he expected to be healthy enough to do away with the need for new stimulation of the economy through tax relief. As did the others, he asked not to be named.

Nationalists Sink 2 Red Warships

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China claimed it sank two Red Chinese warships and routed 11 in a sea battle 12 miles southeast of the Tachen Islands today.

The Defense Ministry did not say what type of Red warships was involved but they could have been armored junks, of which the Communists possess many.

In Tokyo, the Japanese coast guard reported that two Japanese fishing boats were machine-gunned and sunk by two unidentified gunboats about 20 miles east-southeast of the Tachens today. Three Japanese fishermen were killed and three injured.

2,330 Polling Places Slated For Checkup

Cincinnati, Youngstown, Akron, Canton Areas Hold Senator's Hopes

COLUMBUS (AP) — Democratic Sen. Thomas A. Burke today asked for recounts in 2,330 precincts in Hamilton, Stark, Mahoning and Summit counties in the hope of erasing his 6,041-vote defeat by Republican George H. Bender in the Nov. 2 election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said Burke asked for recount of all 1,102 precincts in Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati; all 338 precincts in Mahoning County, which includes Youngstown; all 580 precincts in Summit County, which includes Akron, and 310 of 315 precincts in Stark County, which includes Canton.

Demand for a recount requires posting of $10 bond for each precinct questioned. The bond is refunded if the recount changes the result in the precinct, or results in a change of 4 per cent or more.

Timothy S. Hogan, Cincinnati attorney acting for Burke, handed a certified check for $11,020 to the Hamilton County Board of Elections. Hogan said Burke would ask for a recount in at least 1,500 other precincts outside Hamilton County.

The Stark, Mahoning and Summit precincts add to 1,228. Other sources said recounts probably would be asked in Cuyahoga and Tuscarawas counties.

* * *

THE CHECK FOR $11,020 presented at Cincinnati, was drawn on Burke's own account in a Cleveland bank.

Hogan refused to confirm reports applications may be filed in 17 other counties involving nearly 75 per cent of the states 11,194 precincts if Burke's supporters can raise the funds they must post with election boards.

Today is the deadline announced by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for filing recount applications.

Brown said any applications would be filed with local election boards. And the applicants must put up deposits of 10 per polling place.

The Burke forces reportedly have now raised some $25,000 to $30,000 to post for recounts.

The official count issued last Wednesday for Ohio's 88 counties gave Cleveland Republican Bender 1,258,179 to 1,252,138 for Burke.

The narrow victory gave Bender the remaining two years of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's six - year term. Burke, former Cleveland mayor, has been serving an interim appointment by Gov. Lausche.

State Democratic leaders, including Burke; Joseph Sullivan, his campaign chairman and Democratic State Chairman Eugene H. Hanhart, conferred in Columbus yesterday and reportedly scheduled further meetings for today.

Also reported as possibilities for recount requests were Franklin, Butler, Greene, Scioto, Ashland, Ashtabula, Belmont, Clark, Columbiana, Jefferson, Licking, Muskingum, Allen, Mercer, Lawrence and Medina counties.

Solon Doubts McCarthy's Hurts Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D - Ark) says he doubts Sen. McCarthy's elbow trouble is "quite as serious as we were led to believe" when the Senate last week suspended debate on censure charges against the Wisconsin Republican while he underwent hospital treatment.

"It seems to me," Fulbright said "that this delay is certainly consistent with an effort to prevent any vote at all."

Debate on the censure charges was broken off last week until next Monday when Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, reported McCarthy had developed "traumatic bursitis" after his elbow was injured by a handshake.

Fulbright said he wasn't questioning Dr. Calver's competence but that "there is an old custom in the Bethesda Naval Hospital that senators and congressmen make their own diagnosis."

The Senate is authorized to sit for this session only until Christmas Eve. If the vote on censure does not come by that time, the charges automatically die.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), who headed a special committee that recommended McCarthy be censured, said yesterday he doubts the recess "will have any effect on the final result." He said the censure debate lull may "cool off some of the people who have been emotionally upset."

Ohio Liquor Chief Named As Judge

OLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Lausche today appointed Liquor Director Anthony A. Rutkowski as a Cleveland municipal judge.

The appointment filled a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Vanik, who was elected a Democratic member of Congress from Ohio's 21st District.

There was speculation, but no immediate confirmation, that William C. Bryant, who preceded Rutkowski as liquor director, might return to his old job. Bryant left the liquor department when Lausche appointed him to a vacancy on the Franklin County Common Pleas Court, but was defeated for election Nov. 2.

2 Jet Bomber Crewmen Killed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The two crew members of a Martin B57 jet bomber were killed today when the plane apparently exploded in air and crashed into the back yard of a private home near here.

The burning plane set fire to the home, but the housewife and three small children escaped without injury.

A spokesman at the Glenn L. Martin Co. plant identified the crewmen as Joseph E. Weber, 30, the pilot, a native of Hamilton, Ohio, and George P. Hodgson III, 28, aeronautical engineer, a native of Richmond, Va. Both men were single, and both lived in Baltimore.

Lad, 16, Man Held In Holdup

Police said a third suspect in the robbery of a Main Street service station escaped in the darkness after a brief chase. No charges were filed immediately.

Frank Thomas, 50, night attendent at the station, said he gave the gunmen about $80 in bills.

U.S. Diplomats See Change In Soviet Policy

ed in London by U. S., British and French officials turning down the Soviet call for a meeting Nov. 29.

Russia is thus faced with a solid Western front on its various moves to substitute an East West security system in Europe for the Western defense program to include a rearmed Germany.

Several years ago many American officials felt German rearmament at the showdown stage would involve serious risk of war with Russia. They expected the Soviets would make very belligerent gestures to keep the West from tying up this great power prize, or at least would try to get a fully neutralized Germany, even if that meant giving up East Germany. That was before Stalins death.

The fact that Moscow is reacting with familiar Soviet propaganda terms, including claims that the German agreement will destroy the basis for future European settlements, is regarded here as being in line with the general peace offensive of the Malenkov regime.

Police To Pay For Phone Call On Patrol Duty

Circleville policemen, patrolling the Circleville downtown area, will now have to pay 10 cents for each call they make back into police headquarters

Telephone company manager Ed Jury confirmed the new order.

He stated that there is no way of telling if it actually is a policeman calling in. In the past, the officers were afforded the courtesy of free calls.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman points out that the officers are required to call the station every half hour. On a six-hour tour of duty in the downtown area, this whould mean the officers have to pay $1.20 each night of foot patrol duty.

The order to pay for calls applies to any public phone in the city, Jury added.

Two Drivers Fined, Third Cited In 3 Accidents Over Weekend

Three accidents over the weekend resulted in fines for two drivers and a citation for a third.

The first mishap was reported to have occurred at 12:15 p. m. Saturday on Route 56 at the Kingston Pike. One car, making a U-turn, was struck by a second auto.

The first driver, Bennie D. Glenn, 22, of Ashville Route 2, was fined $10 and costs in city court for failure to yield the right of way.

Glenn told Deputy Sheriff Dwight Radcliff he attempted the U-turn on Route 56. He did not see an approaching car driven by Willie Thompson, 41, of Circleville Route 4. Thompson and his wife, Effie, were injured. Thompson was taken to Berger Hospital.

DEPUTY RADCLIFF also investigated the second accident. This occurred on Walnut Creek Pike .2 mile north of Bell Station Rd. at 6 p. m. Saturday.

Charles Phillips, 33, of Ashville, apparently failed to make a curve on the pike, lost control, and was thrown from the auto. He suffered a laceration on top of his head. He is being cited for drunken driving, the deputy stated.

State Patrolman Jim Gates was an eyewitness to the third mishap. He was in a cruiser in S. Bloomfield when one car was struck in the rear by another.

Driver of the second car was Otis Byrd, 54, of Columbus. He was arrested by Gates for failure to have assured clear distance and for drunken driving.

On the first charge, Byrd was fined $15 and costs in city court. On the drunken driving accusation, he was fined $100 and costs, given three days in jail and his license was suspended for six months.

GIBSON FLETCHER, 39, of Leburn, Ky., had stopped his northbound car on Route 23 in S. Bloomfield for a traffic light. As he started up his car was struck in the rear by Byrd's.

OEA Aide Raps Social Security

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Education Assn. members today will be asked to go on record opposing any effort to combine the Ohio teachers' retirement system with the social security program.

A research report, scheduled for presentation tonight by R. L. Morton of Athens, will ask the educators meeting here in convention to "present a united front in opposition" to such a proposal.

Morton's report says coordination with social security could result in gains for older teachers nearing retirement, but would be costly to younger teachers and newcomers to the profession.

Horsepower represents the power required to lift a weight of 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute.

Iowa Governor Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley was killed in an automobile-truck crash near here last night, less than two months before he would have completed his third term as Iowa's chief executive.

Highway patrolmen said the car crashed into the rear of a pickup truck driven by John Gardner, 54, of Des Moines, about six miles north of here.

Beardsley, 53, a Republican and one of the early supporters of Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952, was the first Iowa chief executive to die in office.

Beardsley's administration was active in promoting highway safety. He had formed the governor's official traffic safety committee, which included the heads of state departments having to do with safety, law enforcement and education, and promoted a statewide meeting of teen-agers last April to draft a safety program for young people.

Highway Patrolman Glenn McDole said when he arrived at the accident he found Gov. Beardsley lying with his head in his wife's lap. Mrs. Beardsley said:

"Bill hasn't moved."

An ambulance took the governor and Mrs. Beardsley to Iowa Lutheran Hospital, where Beardsley was pronounced dead on arrival.

Man Admits Slaying Of His Niece, 11

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—A mild-mannered bookkeeper who developed an infatuation for his pretty 11-year-old niece admitted last night that he killed her. Then he lead officers on a 226-mile hunt for the body.

Police found the fully clothed body of Jeannette Earnest about four miles east of here in a pile of leaves just off U. S. Highway 66. The schoolgirl, missing from her Fort Worth, Tex., home since last Tuesday, had been shot in the right temple.

Sheriff Bill Decker quoted Priest as saying:

"I was afraid the family was going to take the girl away from me. If I couldn't have her, no one else could."

The child's mother recently restricted Priest's visits with the girl.

Decker also said Priest told him he didn't know why he shot Jeanette—"there's no reason."

"She is gone," he told police. "And as far as I'm concerned, I am willing to go too. I don't want to try to get out of it. I feel like a great burden had been taken off my mind."

Officers said that during the 226-mile trip through Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, Priest sobbed hysterically several times.

After an autopsy, Coroner Stanley R. Palmer Jr. reported there were "no signs of criminal attack."

Hess Funk Raeder Speer Von Schirach Doenitz

DEPARTURE OF 81-year-old, ailing Baron Konstantine von Neurath leaves six members of the old Nazi leadership still confined in Spandau prison on the edge of Berlin. The seven were put in the four-power prison following their Oct. 1, 1946 sentencing at Nuerenberg. Von Neurath was the "dean." Reports from inside describe Rudolf Hess as still regarding himself as the "deputy fuehrer." Walter Funk is a "gay roue in the last stages of disintegration." Architect Albert Speer spends much time drawing designs. Baldur von Schirach is the most vicious. Grand Admirals Eric Raeder and Karl Doenitz still hate each other. (International)

Sen. Bridges In Line For Policy Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire today was reported in line for chairmanship of the Senate GOP Policy Committee. Such a move would fill two top leadership posts with Republicans critical at times of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, has told friends he has no intention of giving up that job although he diverges from President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for some aspects of international policies.

While Bridges has not publicly indicated his intentions, colleagues said there is little doubt he can have the chairmanship of the party's policy committee if he wants it. The present chairman, Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, was defeated for re-election.

Bridges, senior Republican in point of service in the Senate, was one of those who fought unsuccessfully against confirmation of Eisenhower's nominee for ambassador to Russia, Charles Bohlen.

Knowland and Bridges are advocates of stronger action against communism in Asia than the Eisenhower administration thus far has been willing to undertake. Both are bitter opponents of admission of Communist China to the United Nations, a possibility Eisenhower has said this nation opposes now but on which he has not foreclosed a possible future change in policy.

As chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, Bridges has been critical in the past of some of the policies of Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Failure of the Senate in 1954 to reach a vote on censuring Sen. McCarthy wouldn't necessarily end the matter. The Senate could resume study of the problem as soon as the Democrats took over Congress in 1955.

It could be done by a simple majority vote on a resolution next year to take up McCarthy's case again. No doubt McCarthy's Senate friends would fight it.

Such a fight could delay the new weeks. More time would be used if a majority approved the resolution and, in due course, got around to debating censure again.

A week ago the Senate seemed to have sufficient time to reach a vote. It came back Nov. 8 to consider censure and had until its deadline of Dec. 24 to finish up.

But last week, after McCarthy went to the hospital, with a bruised elbow and Congress' official doctor said he would not be fit to return to the Senate for at least 10 days, the Senate recessd until Nov. 29.

If he returns that day his friends, although he reportedly wants a vote may filibuster to prevent voting before Christmas Eve. If there's no vote by then, there can be none in 1954. Several of McCarthy's friends have said there will be no effort to prevent a decision this year.

It's anybody's guess what the Senate will do if McCarthy or a doctor says he can't return Nov. 29.

This is why the Senate must vote by Dec. 24 or not at all in 1954:

Any legislation — a resolution comes under that head — offered in a Congress, ends with that Congress. It does not carry over into the next Congress.

On Aug. 2 the present Senate approved a resolution — No. 301 — setting up a select committee to consider charges that McCarthy's conduct should be censured. The committee was headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah).

Any action the present Senate took on Resolution No. 301 would have to be completed before the 84th Congress took over. If the 84th wanted to resume the McCarthy case, it could do so only by a new resolution.

On Aug. 20, with its business finished for the year, the House adjourned. It could not return unless President Eisenhower called it back in special session. But on Aug. 20 the Senate was far from finished.

It would have to consider censure for McCarthy if the Watkins committee recommended that, as it did later. So House and Senate agreed that the latter could go on working but no later than Dec. 24.

The Senate could not continue debate on McCarthy beyond Dec. 24 unless the House came back and voted approval. Eisenhower would hardly call a special session just for that.

But next year's Senate could pick up the problem of censuring McCarthy if a senator introduced a resolution to do so and a majority approved.

DOUBLE THANKSGIVING DAYS

Here's Story Behind Those Holiday Observations in 1939, 1940 and 1941

President Lincoln
First proclaimed holiday.

President Roosevelt
He moved holiday forward.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Thanksgiving Day is being observed wherever the American flag flies, yet it was only a few years ago that the nation was sharply divided over its observance.

There were those who celebrated it one day, there were those who gave their thanks—and ate their turkey—another day. In short, there were two Thanksgiving Days.

Those were the years of confusion—1939, 1940 and 1941—when America's traditional holiday became a hotly debatable issue.

The story behind them has never been generally told. It had been the custom for many years, beginning with a proclamation by Abraham Lincoln in 1863, to observe the last Thursday in November.

This was normally the fourth Thursday in the month, but in 1939 the last Thursday in November was the fifth and it fell on the 30th.

Early that autumn, one of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's assistants received a telephone call at the White House from Fred Lazarus, of Columbus, O., the head of a large department store there and in Cincinnati.

Lazarus asked the assistant to talk to two friends, a representative of Ohio retail merchants and an Ohio publisher.

* * *

THE TWO MEN subsequently arrived in Washington and told FDR's assistant they wished to discuss the Thanksgiving Day situation with him.

They pointed out the holiday fell that year on Nov. 30 and this left an unusually short shopping period before Christmas. They suggested that if Thanksgiving Day could be observed a week earlier, merchants would benefit because there would be an additional week of shopping and newspapers would obtain additional advertising.

This in turn, they added, would help business and increase employment, two important considerations at a time when there were many people out of work.

When the proposal was presented to President Roosevelt, he told his assistant it seemed worthwhile to him, but to check first whether the change would affect religious anniversaries and to determine whether the labor organizations thought it would help employment.

* * *

THE REPORT when made was favorable and the President made the announcement that he was proclaiming Thanksgiving Day a week earlier that year.

The announcement came like a bombshell. Some governors—many of them Republican, but not all—declared their states would observe the last Thursday of the month. Heated newspaper editorials were written condemning, and praising, the move.

So, in 1939, two days were observed as Thanksgiving. The same was true in 1940 and 1941 when FDR advanced the holiday again.

In 1941, Congress decided to stabilize the observance. It adopted a resolution, "that the fourth Thursday of November in each year after the year 1941 be known as Thanksgiving Day, and it is hereby made a legal public holiday to all intents and purposes."

Mr. Roosevelt signed the resolution and since then the fourth Thursday in November has been observed as the legal holiday.

Texas Records New Juror Excuse

DALLAS (AP)—A prospective juror escaped duty here with an excuse never before used in Texas.

The state earlier this month voted a constitutional amendment allowing women to serve on juries.

So an attractive young woman walked into the office of Jury Bailiff C. A. Maxwell and asked to be released from jury service.

"Why" asked Maxwell.

"I'm pregnant," said the woman.

$1 Million Fire Hits Pennsy Town

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — A million-dollar fire that funneled through an old brick building and sent up billowing columns of smoke damaged four stores and for a time threatened an entire block of the main business section yesterday.

Some 300 volunteer firemen called from nearby communities battled more than seven hours before controlling the worst blaze in city history. At least 25 persons were treated at Lock Haven Hospital, mostly for smoke inhalation.

Two firemen suffered injures when a ladder collapsed and when another ladder fell.

An undetermined number of families living in apartments above the four stores were routed.

Fire Chief Harry Caksey said the loss would be "a minimum of a million dollars" but declined to give any further estimate.

Shotguns Pummel Thousands Ducks

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP)—Squads of shotgun-armed volunteers slaughtered more than a thousand ducks, gulls and other water birds on Victoria's beaches yesterday.

It's all an act of mercy.

The birds' feathers are soaked with heavy fuel oil that spread over wide areas of water when the U. S. freighter North Beacon went aground last Tuesday. They are unable to fly. About 3,000 have been killed

Deficit Growing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Treasury says it went $7.1 billion in the red during the first four months of this fiscal year—about $855 million more than its deficit for the like period last year.

French Crime Dips

PARIS (AP)—A reduced crime rate and release of most of the persons convicted of helping the Germans in World War II has cut back France's prison population from the 1946 total of 67,000 to 20,600, little more than normal.

Fire Curbs Power

MASSILLON (AP)—Standby generators fed electricity to City Hospital last night as a fire and explosion in an electric substation put this city of 27,000 in darkness for about 20 minutes.

Druggist, 58, Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Drugstore Manager Sidney Gordon, 58, chased two teen-age boys from his store yesterday after he caught them tinkering with a cash register. Then he collapsed and died of a heart attack.

PARIS (AP)—Two African explorers, Schuyler Jones of New York and Keith Lawson of Melbourne, Australia, are fitting out a heavy duty truck for a year's photographic jaunt across Africa, Arabia, Iran and India.

Leaving next week, they expect to cover about 3,000 miles, mostly over untracked desert. A couple of years ago they made a similar truck trip across Africa from the Sahara to Capetown.

THE ASIAN CAULDRON

NEARLY 10 YEARS after the end of World War II, the instability of the two major defeated nations, Japan and Germany, is revealed almost the moment their heads of government turn their backs.

Chancellor Adenauer was forced to hurry back to Bonn, after a brief visit to the U. S., when his coalition cabinet started to come apart at the seams over his Saar agreement with France. Premier Yoshida of Japan wasn't able to start on a planned world tour for a long time due to opposition party static. When he finally took the plunge, two veteran Japanese political leaders formed a new Conservative Party for the express purpose of kicking Yoshida out of office. He was forced to return to Tokyo with alacrity.

It is more than coincidental that Adenauer and the Japanese premier were both in Washington when they were knifed at home. It is a commentary on the fact that both nations lean heavily on U. S. leadership and aid to complete their reconstruction and assimilation in the free-world orbit. Hence, while the U. S. is a paramount factor in their respective national lives, it is also the most controversial issue.

There is hope that European nations may soon be able to fend for themselves. It's the Far East and Japan in particular that may prove to be the No. 1 headache of the future.

ATOMIC AGE AND YOUTH

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY, widely regarded as a problem that requires drastic action, is being attacked by many of the nation's keenest minds. There are many contributing factors, including maladjusted homes, substandard health and welfare conditions, and lack of employment for teen-agers.

An authority on the subject now offers a brand new suggestion. Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director of the District of Columbia, says parental fears of atomic warfare are contributing to the increase in juvenile delinquency. In this period of uncertainty and aggression it is becoming difficult to influence youth, and particularly to combat that don't-care-what-happens attitude toward society and the future.

There are 19 million adolescents between the ages of 10 and 18 in the United States. It is estimated that each year more than 1 million of these are in some trouble with the police. Living under the threat of total annihilation, Dr. Seckinger says it is not surprising that the immature mind of youth should despair of the future.

Society must accept the task of reassuring teen-agers that the dangers are more imaginary than real, and that the problems of the future, regardless of how great they prove to be, will be solved.

These Days

The great profession of public relations is engaged in bringing pressures upon all of us to conform to notions which each side says represent majority opinion. If every time the phrase, "average American," is used one knew exactly what was meant, it would surely produce the evidence that there is no such creature, that most people think for themselves, more or less, and come to the very practical conclusion that we can only do the best we can in a very troubled and confused world.

Certainly the recent election does not provide any guide to what the "average American" thinks about anything. Alan Valentine, who used to be President of the University of Rochester and has held important positions in the Government, recently wrote:

". . .Good citizens are recognizing that deference to popular opinion is their highest civic virtue, that he who questions the wisdom of the majority is unworthy of their tolerance, that private doubts cannot be harbored in democratic society. But there still remain, alas, intransigent reactionaries devoted to an outworn liberal tradition; there are still some self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, and our universities still give asylum to perverse professors who are confirmed addicts of independent thought. Were it not for them, the nation might already have attained full cerebral standardization."

This I took to be satire because it is in an article entitled "A Modest Proposal for the Care and Use of Subversives," which is a reminder of Dean Swift's suggestion about eating babies to avoid famine in Ireland. Satirical as these sentences may be, the idea does prevail among too many of our citizens that because a government official says something, it is ipso facto true and should be accepted.

The citizen's problem, however, is not so much to accept judgments as it is to get at facts; what he is being fed, even in the news, is propaganda from a thousand sources. The "self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine" need not all be so-called liberals; they may be—and I think most of them are — conservatives who form a minority in a world that is moving toward socialsim.

After the United States went to war, we were all told that we must love our ally, Russia. A propaganda that reached down to the elementary grades in the schools told of the wonders of Soviet Russia. Anyone who questioned the wisdom of this propaganda was called a Fascist, pro-Nazi, pro-Japanese, a Hitler-defender, an anti-Semite.

Then when the Cold War started, we were all supposed to change our minds like the Rockettes change their steps. Suddenly, we were told how wicked the Russians really are. Now that "co-existence" is being thought of as a policy, we are supposed to think that when Stalin died, and Malenkov took his place, something suddenly happened to the Russian character and mentality which might make everything different. Presumably, when the Russians take their next step in the development of the Soviet Universal State, we shall be asked to change our minds again.

Rabies Still A Threat

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

RABIES is not, as many persons believe, a seasonal hazard. While it is usually more prevalent during the summer, rabid dogs and other animals still roam freely and are just as dangerous in November and December as in June.

Hence, some instructions may be in order at this time as to what to do in the event of a dog bite.

Wash the Wound

First, wash the wound thoroughly for about fifteen minutes. Use plenty of soap and running water. This will remove much of the animal's saliva and lessen the chance of infection.

Next, take the victim to a physician. He will probably wash the wound with green soap and water, then with a solution of an antiseptic such as one of the quaternary ammonium compounds.

Vaccine Treatment

I would suggest anti-rabies vaccine treatment be started immediately, if the animal is believed or known to have been rabid. The virus reaches the brain through the nerves; thus, the closer the bite to the brain, the quicker symptoms of rabies will appear.

On the average, it takes about eight to ten days before symptoms are noticed. However, the time may vary from ten days to several months.

Of course the animal must be apprehended, if at all possible, and kept under observation for fifteen days. If, during this time, it shows a marked change in behavior, has a tendency to hide, a stumbling gait and begins to develop signs of paralysis, usually in the lower jaw, it is a good bet the animal is rabid.

It has been estimated by various sources that the chances of getting rabies from a dog bite are from one in 1,200 to one in 2,100, if the dog is rabid.

Rabies Always Fatal

Despite these odds, you must take all necessary precautions. The odds against a person surviving rabies without anti-rabies treatment are even greater. No one has ever done it.

What medical science is doing to combat this menace to you and your children will be discussed in tomorrow's column.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. A.: For the past few months, I have been bothered by spots and snake-like filmy things floating through my eyes. Can you tell me if this condition can be cured, and what causes it?

Answer: Spots before the eyes is a symptom that appears in several diseases. It may be due to constipation, to a defect in the vision, to high blood pressure, or to migraine.

CHAPTER THIRTY FIVE

"POOR Earl," I said sadly.

"Never mind him," Jake Fortune said bitterly.

"He's not such a bad guy," I said gently. "He tried to protect you, and your daughter, whom he madly loves. He had a problem, and he wasn't talking, not until he knew the score. When Eileen heard me accuse him of trying to kill Ralph, she believed me, thought he had really done it—for her. That almost drove Earl crazy, trying to figure it out. For all he knew, Eileen might have been mixed up in it, too. He—"

"No," Jake Fortune said harshly. "Earl knew the score. Right after I saw you carry Ralph away, I guessed that he was still alive, and I began to run. I met Earl, and I lost my head, and I told him what I'd had to do—because he wouldn't loan me the money. I told him that I'd swear I'd seen him shoot Ralph, out of jealousy, and because he wanted Eileen. The whole country knows that she jilted him for Ralph. I told him that you might come snooping around, and to watch the ravine—I didn't want to take a chance on being seen there. Then I left him, got a rifle, and waited behind a rail fence out back where I could watch the ravine. At noon you showed up, began your poking around, and I took a shot at you."

I said, "And Rex Bishop, fixing a fence in the bottom, saw you shoot at me, and he came up to you and asked questions—and you shot him."

"I never saw the old man. I was watching you. He came walking fast up along the fence, and he was mad. He knew I'd shot at you, because he told me he'd been watching all along. He began to shout at me, and he pointed at the ravine, and— I always liked old Rex, but I had to shoot him, to keep him quiet."

I shivered, thinking of all the things that made a person kill, and I said, "Jake, there's a woman, I suppose?"

His heavy mouth went loose, and he gave me a boastful grin, "Two women, and I'm fifty-six years old." He leered at me lewdly. "A blonde in Cleveland, and a brunette in Toledo. They cost me a lot of money."

"I'll bet," I said. "When did you get the idea about Judy Kirkland? When I told you in Dan's Place that she blamed herself, that she did not want to face Ralph's folks?"

"That gave me the idea," he admitted, smiling at me. "There was no harm in trying. I went out to her place. The lights were on, and it was wide open. I found her upstairs on the bed, asleep. I locked the windows, rigged a pencil with a cord tied to it, and stuck it in the key. I read it some place, and it worked."

"It's an old trick," I said. "You ran the cord from the pencil under the door, turned the key until the bolt was almost ready to click shut, closed the door and pulled the cord. The pencil acted as a lever and flipped the key over, locking the door from the inside. The pencil fell to the floor, and you pulled it out under the door. I saw the yellow speck on the key last night, but I didn't tumble until now that it was paint from one of your pencils. You couldn't be certain of what Earl Seltzman would do, so you tried to frame Judy, too."

He tossed the pencil he'd been holding across the table. "Maybe that's the one I used," he said.

"There'll be dents in it, from the pressure on the key," I said.

"Why don't you look at it and see?" he invited.

I let the pencil lay and watched him. "And then you typed the suicide note on Judy's typewriter."

"With one finger."

I thought of old Rex Bishop, and of Judy, too. She would have died if I hadn't found her as I did. Maybe, for me, in the final scoring, the one life would cancel out the other. I hoped so, and I said, "You followed me to Dan's Place, knowing that I was looking for Earl Seltzman, because I'd been to his house. You went in ahead of me, warned Earl that I was hunting for him. He ducked out the back door, after telling his poker pals that I was a pesky insurance salesman, and to cover for him. He was already leery of me, because I'd slapped him around a little, and he didn't know what you were up to. You knew that I would guess that Earl had scooted out the back door, that I would come out that way, too, and you waited behind the can in the alley, and—" I stopped, remembering the sound of the bullets.

"I'm a rotten shot," he said. "Always have been."

"You missed me three times," I said.

"I won't miss now."

The fear returned, and I had a wild desire to jump up and run. But with the fear there was the rage, suddenly flaming, and at the same time another part of my brain cautioned me to be crafty, to induce him to delay the moment when he would decide to pull the trigger of the gun I knew now he held beneath the table. "It won't work," I heard my voice saying. "They'll get you, Jake."

"Earl's car is out in back," he said. "The keys are in it and the tank is full. I checked, before I came in. The tires on my car are bad, but in Earl's car I can get a long way, maybe to Mexico. I've still got a couple of thousand in cash from the Cleveland cattle deal." He paused, and said in a whisper, "Buck up, Bennett." His teeth showed between his lips. "You can only die once."

"Don't do it, Jake," I screamed.

Violently I pushed against the table, and my chair went backward. The kitchen roared with the blast of his gun. It was as if a baseball had been thrown, quite hard, against my right side, above the belt. The impact made me gasp and I slammed on my back on the kitchen floor. My legs felt dead, but there was no pain.

Jake Fortune was on the floor, too, twisted sideways, the table on top of him. I clawed the .38 from my overcoat pocket, pushed myself to one elbow, tried to steady the gun. Fortune rolled clear of the table, and he fired as he rolled, the bullet splintering the wooden cabinet beside my head. I fired, my wrist wobbling, and I knew that I had missed. A flower pot on the window sill behind him flew to bits. He pushed himself upward, swaying on his knees. I had plenty of time to aim carefully. The kitchen seemed to jump with the muzzle blast and a little black hole appeared in Jake Fortune's shirt over his right shoulder. The impact rocked him, and his gun arm dangled limply.

"All right, Jake," I said. "You're done."

Grimacing, he grasped his right wrist with his left hand and he brought the gun up and around. I yelled, "No!" but he swung the gun toward me.

There was only a split second of time left, and I didn't have any choice. I shot him in the face.

I made it to the telephone and pulled the receiver toward me and asked for Sheriff Morrissy. Then I passed out on the floor.

Close beside me a voice said, "Hello, Jim."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG
news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON —American efforts to win friends abroad by feeding the hungry have backfired badly because of the blundering of Foreign Operation Administrator Harold E. Stassen and State Department interference. What was labeled rather ostenttaiously by FOA as "Operation Poinsettia" has no association with Christmas charity, or coloration except that it is snafued in government red tape.

President Eisenhower is reported to be irritated, with this humanitarian venture's execution and with the Minnesota politician who heads it As happened last year gifts of food scheduled for Christmas delivery will not reach their needy recipients until February. Worse still, the wrong kinds of food are being sent to the wrong countries.

As an American Santa Claus, Stassen has been a "bust."

* * *

SLIPSHOD—Meat supplies, for instance, are going to beef-producing Argentina, where the finest steaks are common fare. Roast beefs are scheduled for areas where any red meat is proscribed by religious laws. While American housewives buy margarine to save pennies in the household budget, tons of butter will be forwarded to such dairy-rich countries as Norway, Finland and Sweden.

Although starvation stalks through such strategic places as India and Pakistan, their peoples will receive nothing because of a State Department ruling. State has held that there are so many underfed people in Asia that an American contribution would be only a crumb in the cupboard. Yet vast stores will go to less unfortunate lands.

Stassen's office made such a botch of Christmas giving last year that it was decided to let accredited private relief agencies handle the distribution in 1954. The government would provide, package and ship the food, and the established relief units would distribute it overseas.

* * *

FAILURE — This reorganization has failed to improve the situation because the initial operation was turned over to four different Federal agencies. It was an excellent example of bureaucracy not at work.

Agriculture was supposed to supply surplus commodities to firms for processing raw materials into food. State and Foreign Operations would decide where the stuff was to be sent. The General Services Administration would deliver the goods to private firms for packaging, and then ship it overseas. Upon arrival, the private agencies would supervise actual distribution.

But there was no single director or coordinator for this complicated program. There was confusion and delay and cross-purposing During the period when there was need for a strong head and hand Stassen was junketing in Europe. It is now too late to correct initial mistakes.

It is obvious that the operation would have been performed more promptly and efficiently, if it had been turned over in to an organization like CARE, which is doing its own packaging of Federal supplies, and expects to make deliveries on schedule, with Christmas as the deadline.

In order to help out Harold, the public may also contribute to 'Operation Hunger," as it is known in non-Stassen circles. A dollar will buy 28 pounds of food through this medium.

Finally, it is probable that Ike will provide a new American Santa Claus, not only for Christmas, 1956, but also for every day in the year.

LIVELY — Democratic control of Congress has one happy aspect. For some reason, Democrats are always more colorful, more exuberant, more lively than their Republican opposites. The latter trend to be more restrained, more conservative, more introverted. Washington caterers' profits soar under Democratic regimes, fall under Republican rule.

An example of the transformation is the uninhibited William M. (Fishbait) Miller, who returns as doorkeeper of the House of Representatives in January. Under the Republicans, he stepped down to an assistant's job.

Several years ago, Doorkeeper Miller was showing the then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh through the House, which was not in session. He escorted Princess Elizabeth to the Speaker's rostrum, and then turned to Gus Cook, assistant architect, who was walking with Edinburgh

"Hey, Gus," said Miller, "hand me up the Duke!"

"I knew the Donovans are," explained the injured lad, "but how could I tell the Pope was too?"

No Taste For Roast Thrush

LAROCHE, Belgium (AP) — All my life I have wanted to become a real gourmet, one who makes an art of eating.

I guess I never will. I flunk out on the very first test—which is, that the true gourmet never lets his conscience interfere with his palate.

For example this year an African native politician disappeared on a campaign tour and presumably was consumed by his constituents. The average voter, no matter what his politics, considers such a thing unjustified, regardless of the candidate's stand on the tariff or whether he favored legalizing bingo.

Your true gourmet, on the other hand, would be interested only in how the politician was cooked, what kind of sauce was employed, and what kind of wine would be proper for the occasion.

I mention this only because I have again foundered in my efforts to become a gourmet. The piece de resistance in this case was not a politician, but something even more vulnerable called a grive.

I have been journeying through Belgium with a group of American travel writers, and life has been one banquet after another. The food in the Ardennes is wonderful at this time of year and full of a sweet-tasting venison, acorn-ripened wild boar steaks that make ordinary pork pallid in comparison.

My first encounter with venison did trouble me (I love the image of a springing deer) but I calmed my qualms and manfully downed it by telling myself "In this world everybody's after a fast buck."

And just when I thought I was becoming a hardened gourmet at last—well, in they came with a grive on my plate.

What was it? Nobody in our group knew for sure. It was a small bird, roasted a lovely brown. It had been cooked with its head on, and served with the head bent under the wings and legs, which were crossed across its breast in a shy, protective gesture.

"Looks like that old painting called 'September Morn.'" someone suggested. We guessed it must be a tiny squab or some kind of sparrow.

The next problem was how to eat it. With knife and fork I feebly attacked the grive. It immediately let its head fall back and flung its wings and legs apart. It looked somehow like a baby that needed a diaper.

Hunger left me at once. But feebly I took off a morsel with my fork. It was dark and gamey, and I had a hard time swallowing it.

The Belgian sportsman sitting next to me noticed my difficulty.

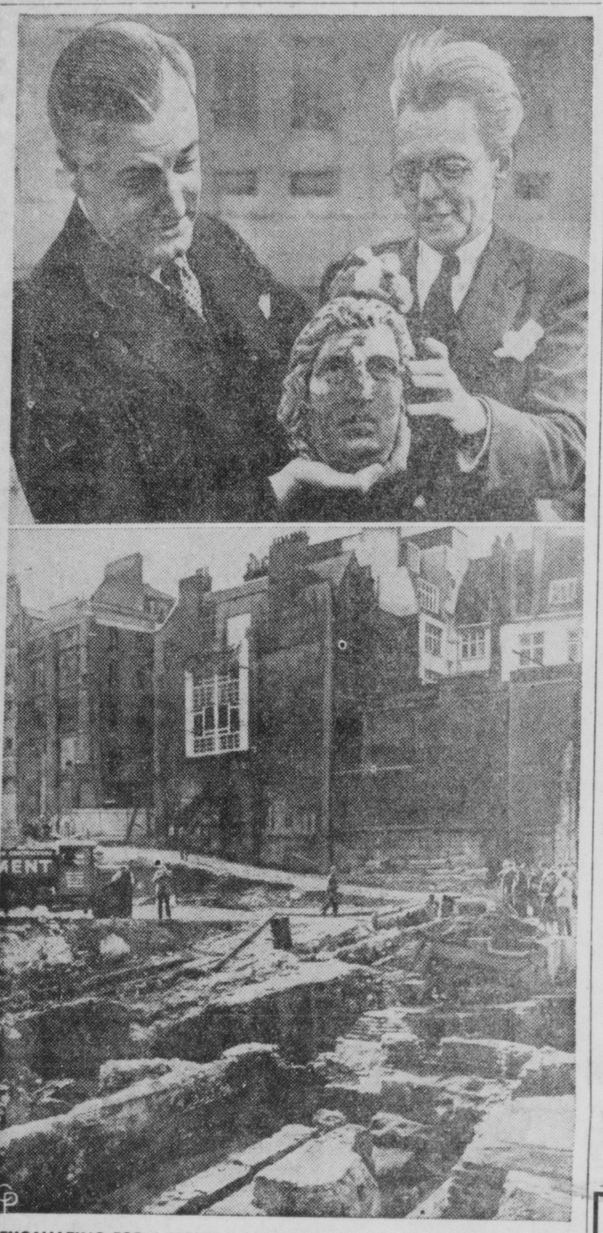

"Very delicious," he said, kissing his fingers. He then showed me how to eat a grive. He ripped the bird apart, wolfed it down, thrust the head in his mouth and demolished it with gusto.

Fighting down an urge to get up and run, I asked him what a grive was. As best I could understand his explanation, filtered through my forgotten year of college French, he said:

"A grive is a thrush, game bird here. We trap it. It is a very greedy bird, and its greed is its own undoing. When it thrusts its head through a small looped snare to get at a berry, the noose tightens around its throat and hangs it."

"A grive is a thrush is a thrush is a thrush." The words rang through my mind. I remembered how as a Boy Scout I had prowled through the woods identifying different birds to win a merit badge. What would my old scoutmaster think of me now, sitting here with a cooked, sweet-singing thrush on my plate?

My Belgian friend looked puzzled as I pushed the grive away. I felt there was no use trying to explain to him that to me a thrush meant music, and that if I were ever hungry enough to eat musical instruments I would prefer to start by munching on a tuba or nibbling on the legs of a concert piano.

Curfew For Kids Awakens Oldsters

CEDAR CITY, Utah (AP) — Early-to-bed oldsters complain they're losing sleep because of Cedar City's new curfew law.

It says that kids under 15 must be off the streets by 11 p.m.

And to let them know, city fathers mark the curfew hour each night by letting go with the town fire siren.

Cactus Jack Alert On 86th Birthday

UVALDE, Tex., (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner, in quiet retirement here, observed his 86th birthday today

He planned to celebrate it as he always does: Hunting with longtime friend Ross Brumfield in the southwest Texas hills around here.

"Deer better watch out," he said the other day. "I've got a keen eye."

White-haired and shrunken with age, Garner lives a placid life in his pecan tree-shaded home here, looking after his chickens and reading. He hardly ever talks politics.

THE KINEMINS—NEW 'RACE' INVADES MOVIES

By FRED HIFT
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—Movieland is full of characters, but none stranger than that brand-new race of "actors" billed as the Kinemins.

To be sure, they are only puppets, one-third life size and with insides made of steel and aluminum, but there all resemblance ends with their brothers and sisters in the nursery.

For the Kinemins, carrying a price tag of $3,000 each, are little people with a real personality, capable of responding to electronic commands to smile, cry, twitch an eye-brow, wrinkle their nose, pucker their lips or frown in anger. In short, they are the first puppets built to change their facial expressions at the turn of a distant dial.

These amazing miniatures, human replicas down to the most minute detail, are currently starred in their first movie, Hansel and Gretel, a colorful adaptation of Humperdinck's well-loved children's opera based on the Grimm fairy tale.

Michael Myerberg, a well-known Broadway producer, got the idea of presenting life-like three-dimensional figures on the screen 15 years ago. By the time he realized his dream, he had spent over $600,000 in developmental work alone and was employing a veritable army of experts—sculptors, technicians, doctors, chemists, dancers, animators and dressmakers.

* * *

THE KINEMINS are not moved by strings or any other attachment. The feet are magnetized, so they are able to remain standing in any position desired. To create the illusion of smooth movement on the screen, animators — working through trap doors in the scenery —move the little figures a fraction of an inch each time the camera clicks off another frame. This is known as the top-motion technique.

The workmanship that goes into each of the puppets is almost incredible. First the figure is laid out on the drawing board, then it is sculptored and split in half.

* * *

AN INDIVIDUAL armature of complex bearings and "feelers" is micrometrically fitted into one of the halves so as to duplicate the natural joints and major muscles of the body. The entire figure is then covered with a rubbery, astonishingly skin-like substance that is soft and pliable.

The job doesn't end there, however. Once the wardrobe department gets through, and the head is covered with human hair, the camera people move in for "screen test." "Quite a few of my boys and girls failed to make it," sighs "Papa" Myerberg.

For each of the Kinemins, Myerberg's artists create an "extra," just in case of accidents, and a separate head for close-ups. Electrical impulses from a complex, 12-unit machine control the expressions. According to Myerberg, each face is capable of some 800,000 variations in looks as it becomes animated by the pulsations.

To assure his figures of complete naturalness or movement, Myerberg had his cameramen shoot thousands of feet of film of children going through the same motions as were required of his puppets. Ballet dancers and medical specialists were brought in to check on muscle movements.

* * *

AS THE PUPPETS stood fastened to the magnetized stage, animators were able to take advantage of their perfect construction which permitted such small action as the crooking of a finger.

Myerberg started work on his puppets at the old Fort Lee studio in New Jersey. Today he runs his studio-factory in a rickety old brownstone on Manhattan's East Side.

The wide stage on which his artists created the Hansel and Gretel wonderland of the dark woods, the broommaker's house and the gingerbread cottage once was used as a dance floor for Italian, Greek and Polish festivities. Each building was constructed cardboard fashion to allow walls to be removed and give the cameras a convenient peek inside.

No one could be prouder of his puppets than Myerberg, who calls them his "children." Best of all, he boasts, "I've got something all Hollywood will envy me for—actors who don't talk back!"

Flood-Weakened Bridge Collapses

TORONTO (AP) — Weakened by recent floods, a Toronto bridge collapsed last night and tumbled a truck 20 feet into a stream. The vehicle's two youthful occupants escaped.

Driver Bruce Logan, 21, said he saw the structure sag when his truck was in the middle. "I knew I'd never make it across," he said, "so I just hung on."

The truck landed upright with a steel girder on top, wedging the doors shut The two youths smashed a window and scrambled up the bank They suffered severe cuts and bruises.

SUZANNE BECHARD, 5, of Albany, N. Y. is shown after she had been crowned "Little Miss U.S.A." in New York City. As winner in the nationwide contest she received $7,500 in prizes and a trip to Bermuda with both her parents.

PETER MAKAREWICZ, 15, of Norwood, Mass., is handcuffed to a policeman as he is taken from the Dedham, Mass., jail for arraignment on a murder charge in the slaying of Geraldine Annese, 15. The girl was found strangled in a garage near her home. (International)

These Days

It is not so long ago that this same kind of government propaganda was devoted to causing us to believe that Chinese Communists are not Communists at all but "agrarian reformers." I shall never forget listening to a businessman, who fancies himself as a great authority on foreign relations, telling me that he had it from substantial people that these Chinese Communists were not associated with the Russians at all; that they were only interested in land reform. When I told him about my personal experiences with these same Chinese Communists, from 1921 to 1931, he said, "Well, I have it from very substantial people that all they want is land reform." Then came the Korean War.

There is no greater pressure for conformity from the most ardent conservatives than from the government itself and to one who respects the memory of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, all intellectual goose-stepping is a mark of moral degeneration. When a Congressional committee investigates subversion and espionage, it is not pressing for conformity; it is investigating subversion and espoinage, in which anyone may engage if he is willing to risk the consequences of violations of the law. There have always been men and women who forthrightly and courageously were willing to take that risk for what they believed to be true without hiding behind the Fifth Amendment or any other device.

About five per cent more boys than girls are born in the United States.

Nation's Most Luxurious Army Post Once Was Fashionable Girls' School

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The nation's most luxurious Army post has to be seen to be believed. Here are to be found a Japanese pagoda, a Swiss chalet, a London theater, a Dutch windmill, a castle with a drawbridge, a Spanish mission house, an imported Italian fountain, and a grand ballroom with a 70-foot high ceiling.

The walks are lined with statuary and huge trees and the wind rustles softly through the cool glens and over the bubbling creeks.

However, no one will accuse the Army of "putting on the dog" or wasting the taxpayers' money at Forest Glen, as it is known, for this plush place is dedicated to healing the sick.

Here, just outside the nation's capital, patients who are able to walk about are able to rest and build their strength for the trials that lay ahead of them in the world outside.

* * *

FOREST GLEN is the Maryland annex of the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, to which ambulatory patients are transferred after their stay in Washington. However, unlike other Army posts, "The Glen" has a personality all its own.

In the 1890s it was a resort known as Ye Forest Inn. Later it was a gambling casino and for 50 years after that a school for fashionable ladies. The National Park seminary was, for a time, probably the best known school for girls in the nation.

The Spanish mission house, the pagoda, the windmill, the Swiss chalet and the mansion with the high ceiling were used as sorority houses at the girls' school. Today they are officers' quarters.

How they all got there is something of a mystery. The Japanese pagoda, it is known, was acquired from the 1892 Chicago World's Fair.

Mrs. Margaret Turner, who lives in it, says "it's a wonderful place to live in, but I don't care for Japanese furnishings.

* * *

MRS. TURNER has equipped the house with American antiques. Her husband is Lt. Col. F. A. Turner, chief of the center's dental clinic.

The Dutch windmill is occupied by Col. James H. Mackin, the medical center's executive officer, and Mrs. Mackin. The latter says living in a windmill "is a little odd, but we love it."

Lt. Col. Royce E. House and his wife live in what used to be the seminary library. Mrs. House, newly arrived at the place, said the place was a challenge to her ingenuity. "It's going to be fun furnishing it," she remarked. The living room has a 14-foot ceiling and a balcony on all sides.

The castle with the drawbridge houses a nurses' recreation hall and the grand ballroom in the main building is a GI recreation lounge which probably has no peer in all the world.

The floor is 40 by 85 feet. There are tiered boxes on all sides, Greek statuary, and stained glass windows. At the end of the large building is the London theater, now occupied by Army bandsmen and their baggage.

However, despite its strange appearance, there are unmistakable signs that it is an Army post. By a fireplace there is an Army suggestion box and in a hallway is a mirror with the caption, "Soldier, Check Your Appearance."

A duty officer of Walter Reed Army Medical Center occupies this Chinese pagoda building, typical of the unique old-world type of Forest Glen buildings.

Another type of unusual architecture is this Dutch windmill house which has lost its "blades" since the days of occupation by the National Park Girls school.

You Getting Bald Buy A Good Hat

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A University of Michigan doctor says if your mother and father are bald and your head is taking on the proportions of a billiard ball, the only answer is a good-looking hat.

Dr. Thomas G. Jansen of the university's Medical School, says he recommends throwing away hair lotions and advises persons not to be misled by advertisements. "Just recognize the inevitable and adjust accordingly," says the skin specialist.

Advising women on home waves and dyes, the doctor says:

"If you have noted any skin changes following the use of home waves or dyes, it would be wise not to use them again. Severe reactions could follow continued use."

Pills In Denmark Work Too Well

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Something went wrong the other day at a Danish plant making pills designed to cause an aversion to alcohol.

Invisible dust of the recipe wafted throughout the building. The plant's workers didn't mind until the end of the shift. But then, when they hoisted their evening glasses of beer, they found none could stomach the brew.

Scramble On For Berths In Bowl Games

Only Rose Tournament Teams Now Picked For New Year's Day Test

The Associated Press

The scramble of lucrative bowl berths was not over by any means today, but no matter how the final pairings line up the "natural" of the year won't take place.

The Rose Bowl is the only one of the four big postseason extravaganzas filled It will pit twice-beaten Southern California against mighty Ohio State. UCLA, possibly the only team in the country capable of giving the Buckeyes an argument, played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, and by Pacific Coast Conference edict, can't appear again.

As far as college football goes, that's a genuine tragedy. Both Ohio State and UCLA boast proud 9-0 records Both are undisputed masters of their conferences — UCLA the PCC and Ohio State the Big Ten—and they rate the Nos. 1 and 2 teams in the nation.

If there was any doubt as to who was best in the PCC, it was dispelled last Saturday when UCLA clubbed the Trojans 34-0. Ohio State meanwhile was winning its seventh Big Ten game, a 21-7 decision over Michigan

Two other teams emerged with bowl assignments. They were Arkansas for the Cotton Bowl host and Nebraska as the visitor for the Orange Bowl. Both sneaked in the back door.

Arkansas was beaten by Louisiana State 7 6, and Nebraska suffered a 55-7 pasting at the hands of Oklahoma. But . . . Baylor beat Southern Methodist 33-21 in a Southwest Conference game Since SMU was Arkansas' only competitor for the Cotton Bowl assignment, the defeat spelled finish for the Mustangs. Baylor still can tie Arkansas for the league title, but the Razorbacks had the forethought to whip Baylor earlier in the season to clinch it.

Oklahoma like UCLA is barred from appearing in the Orange Bowl two years in a row, the runner-up gets it this year. Oklahoma's victory over Nebraska gave the Sooners their seventh straight Big Seven title.

Kansas State was the only team that had a chance of overtaking Nebraska in the race for second place. Colorado beat State 38-14 and that settled things.

If Duke can get past North Carolina Saturday, the Blue Devils no doubt will get the Atlantic Coast Conference spot in the Orange Bowl A vote is taken, but Duke will have a spotless record compared to one tie against Maryland. Conversely, if the Blue Devils lose, Maryland probably will get the nod for the second straight year.

Should Mississippi win the Southeastern Conference championship by getting past Mississippi State Saturday, Ol' Miss will act as host team in the Sugar Bowl. Baylor has a good chance of being named the visitor.

The settling of the Southeastern race also will enable the Cotton Bowl selectors some width in deciding the team to oppose Arkansas. Auburn and Kentucky, winners of their last five in a row, appear to have the inside track.

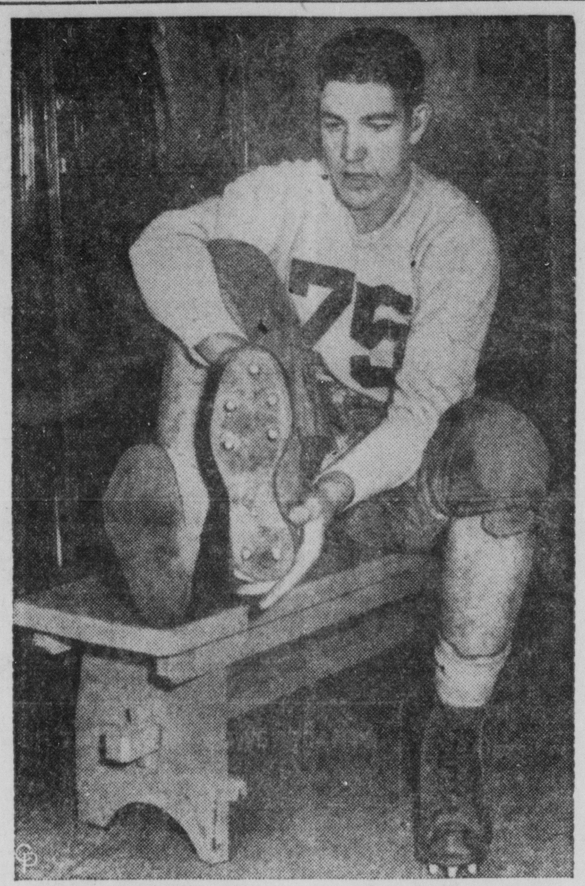

Wichita finally won a Missouri Valley crown with a 20-0 victory over Detroit and probably will get a bid to the Gator Bowl. Any of the teams passed over for the Cotton or Sugar bowls can get the other spot.

The mythical Ivy League title still is unsettled because Harvard upended Yale, the leader, 13-9. A result, Harvard won the Big Three championship (Harvard-Yale-Princeton) and this one is more important to the three teams involved than the league crown.

Notre Dame beat Iowa 34-18.

New York City has almost 45,000 elevators including 30,000 passenger lifts Each day approximately 18,000,000 rides carry passengers a total of 125,000 miles. I all there are about as many miles of elevator shafts as subway tracks.

Columbus Still Aflutter About Rose-Sniffing Bucks

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Buckeye capital was still a bit ga-ga today over Rose-Bowl-bound Ohio State's football deeds of dweeing-do.

The wild weekend of celebration was ver, and as they emerged from the hangover haze the fans, who live and die as Buckeye grid fortunes rise and fall, began to realize their favorites had just about "won it all.'

Saturday's 21-7 victory over Michigan was enough, in itself, to turn the state upside down. But with it went the bid to the Rose Bowl, second in five years for the Bucks, the Western Conference undisputed championship with a 7-0 record, and unbeaten - untied 9-game season. The national title vote wasn't in yet, but the Bucks were slated to be "there or thereabouts."

Stated bluntly, the state "went nuts.'

As pulse beats slowly neared normal today, fans started a race for Rose Bowl tickets, only to be brought up short George Staten, who handles ducats for the Bucks, said Ohio's allotment of 12,800 for the Pasadena classic would fill about one-fifth of the requests.

To even have a chance, you must be a student, faculty member, a member of the West Coast Alumni Assn., or one of the university's regular season ticket buyers. Students and faculty members must pick up their tickets on the Coast, and show photographic identification to get 'em.

Coach Woody Hayes, who hit the jackpot in his fourth year at the Ohio helm, was on a "business as usual" basis despite the furor. He and his staff were together at 7 a.m. Sunday for a look at the Michigan pictures, then went to church.

Allowed a 44-man squad for the Rose Bowl trip and 16 days of practice, Hayes started his arrangements today. The 44 - man squad will fly to Pasadena the morning of Dec. 18, will stay at the Huntington Hotel there, and will practice at Brookside Park just across the road from the famed Bowl.

Another 24 members of the squad, and wives of 12 players, will go by train, but the 24 will go as spectators only. The playing squad will be limited to the original 44, regardless of injuries.

Hayes said he'd probably hold three practices here in early December, and he has made arrangements to use the field house of Denison University, his alma mater 30 miles away, in case of poor weather. The Buck coach plans to use the other 13 practice days on the Coast for the final tuneup for the clash with Southern California.

Bucks Gain 3 Berths On All-Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State captured three berths and six schools in all were represented on the 1954 All-Big Ten football team selected today by the Associated Press.

Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin each was awarded two positions and one each went to Minnesota and Iowa on the honor team.

Two sophomores, Purdue's sensational passing quarterback, Len Dawson, and Michigan's brilliant end, Ron Kramer, made it.

Besides the deadly-armed Dawson, the all-conference backfield had Ohio State's Hopalong Cassady and Minnesota's Bob McNamara at halfbacks and Wisconsin's Alan Ameche at fullback.

Ameche was one of three repeaters from the APs 1953 team. The two other holdovers were the guards in a 212-pound average all-star line, Tom Bettis, Purdue senior, and Cal Jones, Iowa junior.

Paired with Kramer at end was Ohio State's 213-pound senior wingman, Dean Dugger. The other Michigan player honored was 218-pound tackle, Art Walker, a senior, while Ohio State's third All-Big Ten post went to senior tackle Dick Hilinski, heaviest man on the team at 231.

National Loop Ready To Talk 10-Unit Setup

NEW YORK (AP) — The majors launched their annual draft meeting today but the big baseball news may emanate from another session, held by the National League alone, later in the day.

Although they insisted only routine business was to be discussed, reports persisted that the National League executives were to discuss plans for invading California and expanding into a 10-team circuit.

Provision for such expansion already has been made by the National, as well as the American League. It was believed the older league was determined to press for immediate investigation of such future sights as Los Angeles and San Francisco, in a race to win those two rich Pacific Coast League territories.

The owners may also hear from Bill Veeck, former head of the St. Louis Browns, employed by Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs to explore the major league possibilities of Los Angeles and Frisco. In order to add either of these cities, the majors would have to draft it and pay damages to the remaining Pacific clubs.

"I wouldnt be a bit surprised if the 10-club matter came up at our meeting," an unidentified National League club owner said. "I believe both major leagues will consist of 10 clubs within two or three years.'

Bulk Of Ohio's Grid Season Now Deflated

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio colleges have a couple of Thanksgiving Day games on tap, but the bulk of the Buckeye football season is over.

And as the statisticians looked at the record, they figured Bob Brownson of Ashland College had come up with one of the country's astounding coaching jobs.

A year ago, at Portsmouth High, Brownson won nine straight games, finished second to Massillon in the state championship race, and won the award as the high school coach of the year and coach of the Southern All-Star team.

He surrendered the Portsmouth post to return to Ashland, his alma mater, as head coach Taking over a team which had won only one of eight games in 1953, scoring 79 against 192, he turned in a perfect 7-game season and blasted the opposition 119 to 28. His defensive mark was 40 points under Ohio State and Capital, tied at 68.

Western Conference champion—Ohio State.

Mid-American Conference champion—Miami.

Ohio Conference champion—Heidelberg.

Mid-Ohio League champion—Ashland.

Sandlot Football Game Kills Lad, 15

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Fearing, a 15-year-olo freshman high school student, died yesterday during a neighborhood football game. The 6-1, 180-pound youth was described by his brother, Richard, as being "too big for his age."

Two companions, Don Freeman and Roy Barnes, said John "just fell down, started turning blue and then lay there without moving." Cause of death has not been reported.

The figures include all games played by Big Ten teams.

Ohio State's Bobby Watkins, injured on the first play in the Michigan game, finished third with 57 points.

Ashville won its fourth straight game, and second in independent clashes, by noising out visiting Pleasantville 60 to 59 Saturday night.

The Broncos had to pull the out of the fire in the last 13 seconds. Riegel plopped in the winning two pointer

Pleasantville's forward wall showed its scoring power. Both forwards each scored 13 points while the center Barr, had 18.

Ashville's main scoring was again done by Jerry Curry, their outstanding center. He dropped nine field goals and four foul shots into the hoops for a 22-point total.

21 College Teams Wind Up Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-one college football teams, including top ranked Ohio State and second rated UCLA, have completed unbeaten and untied seasons.

Five more, headed by third ranked Oklahoma, also have perfect marks but have not completed their schedules. Ohio State, headed for the Rose Bowl, and UCLA, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, wound up with nine victories each.

Smith, Andrews Face Top Bouts

Fine Goal Line Stand Nets 6-0 Victory For Brown "11"

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Browns put on their finest goal line stand in four years yesterday while trimming the Philadelphia Eagles and moving into first place for the first time this season.

All the points in the 6-0 victory resulted from the field goal kicking of Lou Groza, but they would have been both in vain except for the rugged show put on by the defensive unit.

Philadelphia, aided by a pass interference penalty, gained a first down on the Cleveland one yard line late in the last quarter. Twice the beefy Browns stopped fullback Neil Worden without gain and then the Eagles were penalized five yards for delaying the game.

Bobby Thomason threw one wild pass after that and his last desperate toss was batted down by the Browns.

"The way that defensive line was performing, nothing was impossible," Coach Paul Brown remarked after the game. "It was great and probably finished the Eagles."

Brown, who declared "this was the big game and both teams knew it," agreed with tackle John Kissell who contended the Browns "would have held 'em even without that five-yard penalty."

The last time the Browns put up such a tight defense was in a divisional playoff against the New York Giants in 1950. The Giants, who held the ball for 10 straight downs because of penalties, failed to score then after making a first down on the Brown 3. Cleveland finally won, 8-3.

Philadelphia got in position for their last touchdown try after blocking Groza's fourth field goal attempt.

The Browns' 100th victory in their glossy nine - year history moved them half a game in front of New York in the National Football League's Eastern Division. The Giants lost, 17-16, to Los Angeles yesterday.

Cleveland, gathering power as the season progresses, plays at New York next Sunday.

Flying fists and elbows marked the rough defensive battle. Groza, loudly expressing a desire to settle differences with Philadelphia's Frank Kilroy, was pulled away by teammates as the game ended.

Groza booted a first quarter field goal after Otto Graham passed to Pete Brewster for 57 yards and a first down on the Eagle 10. Three running plays failed to go the distance and "The Toe" booted from the 10.

He missed a 34-yard kick in the second quarter.

Aided by a 15-yard penalty for roughing, the Browns got a first down on the Eagle 11 in the third quarter but failed in a try for a touchdown. After Adian Burk kicked out, Chet Hanulak ran the ball back 17 yards to the Philadelphia 26. The attack bogged down there and Groza kicked his second three-pointer, this time from 32 yards out.

Statistically, the Browns fared better than their six-point victory margin showed. They gained 111 yards running and 185 passing, against Philadelphia's 57 running and 53 passing.

Cleveland lost the opening game of the season to the Eagles, 28-10, and was not able to regain its accustomed place at the top of the heap until the return game.

The Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants, two of professional football's finest defensive clubs, collide at the Polo Grounds in New York Sunday in a game that should settle the wrestling for the Eastern Division title of the National Football League.

"They'll have a psychological edge," New York Coach Jim Lee Howell said. "They beat us last month 24-14."

Coach Hampton Pool of the Los Angeles Rams won't pick a winner but he calls the Giants the most improved club in the league.

"I couldnt believe the Giants were that good," Pool said. "They'll be tough for Cleveland. They'll be up. This is their 'must' game."

This was after the Rams had beaten the Giants 17-16 in a football melodrama yesterday.

Detroit, after a bad scare, slipped by Green Bay 21-17 and took a firmer grip on its third straight Western Division championship.

In other games, the Chicago Bears took Baltimore 28-13 and the Chicago Cards thumped Washington 38-16. San Francisco dumped Pittsburgh 31-3 Saturday night.

Twice yesterday New York fought from behind, led 16-10 at the half and might have pulled it out with a fourth-period field goal. Ben Agajanian's kick from the 42 bumped the crossbar and dropped back onto the playfield field.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

We hope you didn't miss Fred Waring's recent TV presentation of "Over the river and through the woods,—TO Grandmother's house we go."

To many, what happy recollections came to life. You know, we can't help but feel sorry for those who had nothing stashed away in memories' storehouse, which would respond to this Thanksgiving musical classic. I am wondering if it is still sung in our schools about this time of the year. Surely it is not generally taught to our school children, else we would not have had so much difficulty, not so long ago, in locating a copy of the song. Many of us can recall how, at old Everts, in Miss Mader's room, we practiced and we practiced on this.

We kids sang "cappella" those days—we had no such thing as a piano. No—we got on approximately the right key from Miss Minturn's pitch pipe, and from there—well, only occasional wave of the blackboard pointer—our music teacher's baton—kept us in unison and on the beat. And don't think for a moment that this song was just a primary grade must—it was just as popular and loved as much by the High School students.

Remember those assemblies in the morning in Miss Drum's room Remember there we did have a piano, and how Sally Egan could make that old Square respond Remember how hard our teachers worked and what fun we had, practicing songs and recitations for the big afternoon on the last day before Thanksgiving holidays And how, for many days before, all the rooms had been prettied up for the occasion by Mr. Van's budding Michelangelos' blackbaord, colored-chalk drawings—pumpkins, cornshocks, gobblers, Puritan Gallants and their Priscilla Maidens and—possibly an Indian Chief or a brave here and there

Maybe then we didn't appreciate the joy of it all—but we do now—even though the time dates back to "horse and buggy days." We believe we can hear some of today's youthful sophisticates saying—"kid stuff". Yes—we amit there was some "kid stuff" invloved in those Thanksgiving day preparations, but not in the way they are thinking. Maybe it had been a long time since Grandma had seen Junior—so Junior was in for some pretty rigid disciplinary coaching on how to behave at Grandma's house.

You know—sterness was an honored attribute of parents in those days and the hickory stick, the proverbial wood-shed and the use of the word "Don't" were not taboo. Codes of behavier for the youngsters were quite comprehensive and rigid. Some were a bit odd and old-fashioned, but many still should be fundamental rules of civility.

"Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect to those that are present.

"In the presence of others, sing not with a humming noise.

"Sleep not when others speak.

"Put not off your clothes in the presence of others, nor go out of your chamber half drest.

"Shift not yourself in the sight of others, nor gnaw your nails.

"If anyone come to speak to you while you are sitting, stand up—though he be your inferior.

"Strive not with your superiors in argument, but always submit your judgment to others with modesty.

"In your apparel, be modest and endeavor to accomodate nature rather than procure admiration—play not the peacock.

"Run not in the streets, neither go too slowly nor with your mouth open.

"If you soak bread in the sauce, let it be no more than what you put in your mouth at one time—put not another bit into your mouth until the former be swollowed—let not your morsels be too big for your jaws.

"Cleanse not your teeth with the table cloth or the napkin—but if others do it, let it be done with a tooth-pick.

"When it is your time to talk—talk not with food in your mouth.

"When you speak of God or His attributes—let it be seriously and with reverence."

U.N. Assembly Delays Vote On Ike's A-Plan

French Premier Slated For Address; Russians Reverse Stand Again

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan played second fiddle in the U. N. Assembly today to the first appearance of French Premier Pierre Mendes-France before the international organization.

The Assembly temporarily shelved consideration of the Western proposal for peaceful application of atomic energy to hear a major policy speech by the French premier.

There was considerable speculation that Mendes-France would voice some special French pronouncement on the atomic question. In line with this, the French delegation to the U. N. announced that Francois P. Perrin, chairman of the French atomic energy commission, had flown here from Paris to act as speech counselor.

Approval of the American proposal for a peaceful act energy program was delayed in the Assembly's chief Political Committee by Russian amendments submitted late Saturday.

* * *

DESPITE PREVIOUS indications of East-West agreement, the Soviets suddenly revived their demand that the proposed international atomic agency be placed under the veto-hampered Security Council and that the door be left open to invite Communist China to the proposed conference on atomic energy.

The United States and its six cosponsors of the Western resolution remained adamant in the opposition to both propostions. They appeared certaoin of the votes to reject the Soviet amendments, but negotiations with the Soviets continued.

He voiced certainty that the world "can achieve peace, but for that the Western nations must be united and must work together."

He predicted that all the Western nations involved would ratify that Paris accords, including the French-German agreement on the Saar. Of the widespread criticism of the Saar pact, he said:

"When an international agreement is criticized by both sides, it is a good one."

He said he could see no justification for Russian charges that the rearming of Germany would increase the danger of war. The greatest danger of war, he asserted, would exist should the Western nations become dispersed "or even enemies of each other."

Mills resigned in a letter to Chief Elmer Merriman. The chief confirmed the letter on Monday morning saying Mills gave no reasons.

Allies Set To Use H-Bomb To Defend West Europe

WASHINGTON (AP)—Plans for the defense of Western Europe now appear to include the use of the hydrogen bomb on the battlefield, to provide a crushing, ill-destructive force where tactical nuclear fission bombs or projectiles might be inadequate.

Recent generalized and laconic references by American military officials to utilizing whatever weapons and tactics are required to counter aggression have been sharpened by a comment from the deputy supreme commander of Allied powers in Europe, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

The British strategist says:

"I want to make it absolutely clear that we at SHAPE (the Paris headquarters of the supreme command) are basing all our operational planning on using atomic and thermonuclear weapons in our defense.

"With us it is no longer 'They may possibly be used.' It is very definitely 'They will be used, if we are attacked.'"

Montgomery made the significant statement Oct. 21 in a speech before the Royal United Services Institution in London.

Montgomery arrives in Washington this week during a visit to the United States. On Wednesday, he is scheduled to meet with Pentagon officials and later to fly to Augusta, Ga., to spend Thanksgiving with President Eisenhower.

Beginning today, the Military Committee of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization starts a series of meetings for a periodic assessment of the status of Western European military defense, including consideration of the impact of new weapons on the pattern of defense forces. There seemed the possibility that Montgomery might visit, informally, at least one of the committee sessions, to be held in the Pentagon.

In his paper, Montgomery said:

"There are some who say that if war is joined, nuclear weapons will not be used. I would disagree with that.

"My opinion is that the fear of atomic and themonuclear weapons is a powerful deterrent to war, but once a world hot war has started both sides are likely to use them. We would certainly use them ourselves if attacked."

Ex-Convict Points To 'Pal' As Possible Sheppard Killer

CLEVELAND (AP) — While the murder trial of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard entered its sixth week today, police investigated a former convict's story that his burglar pal may have slain the osteopath's wife.

Frail, mild - mannered Henry Fuehrer, 51, walked into a police station in a Cincinnati suburb yesterday and announced, "I've got something on my chest."

Then, officers said, he told of going to Bay Village on a burglary mission the night of July 3 and fleeing in panic after he heard yells, cursing and scuffling come from behind a house his companion had entered. Pregnant Marilyn Sheppard was found bludgeoned to death in her bed earl, in the morning of July 4.

Fuehrer was brought to Cleveland today for further questioning and to see whether he can identify the Sheppard house and a Cleveland bar in which he said he met his companion. He said he knew the other man only as "Pal."

* * *

DR. SHEPPARD, on trial for his life, has contended his wife was killed by a tall, bushy-haired man who twice knocked him unconscious in a battle that raged through the house and down on outside stairway to the Lake Erie beach below it. The state accuses the osteopath of bludgeoning her to death during a quarrel over his affairs with other women.

Fuehrer described his companion as about 6 feet 3, a 200-pounder with "heavy, brownish-black hair."

However, police of St. Bernard, another Cincinnati suburb, said they doubted the story told by Fuehrer.

Police Sgt. Edward Kuderer said the same man went to St. Bernard headquarters on Nov. 5 and told officers he had killed a man in Chicago about last July 11.

The FBI investigated, according to Kuderer, and Fuehrer was released on Nov. 11 when no such crime could be found.

Meanwhile, a Cleveland detective, continuing testimony, said Dr. Sam once admitted that he lied about his affair with a pretty hospital technician.

Detective Robert F. Schottke told Sheppard's murder jury from the witness stand that Sheppard made this admission to him on July 31, conceding that he stayed at the same home with Susan Hayes in California, and gave her a wristwatch.

* * *

PRIOR TO THAT, said Schottke, Sheppard denied he stayed with Miss Hayes at the home of a fellow osteopath, Dr. Arthur Miller, of near Los Angeles, last March.

Under questioning by Assistant Prosecutor Thomas J. Parrino, Schottke testified:

"We asked him about Susan Hayes and he said 'yes,' he had lied about her and did stay with her at the home of Dr. Miller, and he gave her a wristwatch.

"He said he told his wife about Susan so that someone else would not tell her first. We asked him if he had told his wife about other women, and he said yes. He said he always told her about other women because he did not want her to get the wrong impression if someone else told her."

Later, a fellow osteopath and old school friend testified that Dr. Sam "wanted to consider the possibility of divorce" four years ago.

The testimony was given by Dr. Lester Hoversten of Glendale, Calif., a key state witness to establish a motive for murder. He said he talked Sheppard out of sending a letter to his wife on the "possibility of divorce" in 1950.

"Dr. Sam asked my advice on a letter he had written Marilyn and I asked him as a favor not to send it at the time, but to wait until he could speak to her in person.

"It was to the effect he was concerned about his marriage and wanted to tell her how he felt and he felt he wanted to consider the possibility of a divorce."

U.S. Highway Funds Seen On Increase

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Federal funds available to the states on a matching basis for highway construction were almost doubled by the Federal Highways Act of 1954, the author of the act said today.

Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio) headed a seven-man group of congressmen making a four-day inspection trip of Florida's roads.

The group left today for Key West to inspect the Overseas Highway. It will return here tonight and will go out again tomorrow on other inspection trips.

McGregor said that under the highways act, all the money produced by the two-cent per gallon federal tax on gasoline would be made available to the states on a dollar for dollar matching basis. The tax is expected to produce 966 million.

"Before this, only about half of this income was used for road purposes," McGregor said. "But now, all of it will be available."

"It will be the first time people who pay the two-cent tax on gasoline will get back every cent they put into it—and then some."

McGregor said his group, made up of members of the House Committee on Public Works, would wind up its inspections here by Thursday.

Girl's 'Help' Cry Proved Only Joke

CHICAGO (AP) — Ten-year-old Terry Stromberg tied a message to a gas-filled balloon a week ago and set it loose at her Chicago home.

"Help, please!" the message read. She signed her name and added her address.

Yesterday a farmer found the balloon in a field near Grand Junction, Mich., 75 miles northeast of Chicago, across Lake Michigan. He notified Michigan state police who, in turn, radioed here.

Two policemen went to Terry's home.

"Oh, I'm OK," the girl said. "I just wanted to see how far it would go."

Vishinsky Dies Of Heart Attack

The announcement was made by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, president of the U. N. assembly.

Word of the Soviet diplomats death quickly spread through the U. N., where President Eisenhowers atoms-for-peace proposal was under debate in the 60-nation political committee.

Even before the announcement came, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold and numerous delegates already had begun expressing their sympathy to Arkady A. Sobolev, aide to the Soviet diplomat.

Shortly after Van Kleffens announced Vishinsky's death in the assembly, the chairman of the political committee interrupted a speech by India's V. K. Krishna Menon to make the same announcement.

All U. N. meetings for today adjourned out of respect to the Soviet delegate. The Assembly arranged to meet this afternoon, however, to pay respect to Vishinsky.

Couple Admits Poor Box Thefts

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—A Novato, Calif., couple has told police of an eight-month country wide junket during which they robbed church poor boxes to pay their way.

George Skaggs, 43, and his wife, Lorna, 23, were arrested Friday after police matched their auto license plates with the number given them by the Rev. Fr. James Hickey of St. Anne's Roman Catholic Church. The priest said he took down the number when he saw a couple flee in the car after trying to break into the poor box of his church.

Mrs. Skaggs told police they had robbed between 60 and 75 church poor boxes. The haul ranged between $2 and $35.

U.S. Diplomats See Change In Soviet Policy

Little Boldness Noted In Kremlin Attitude Concerning Germany

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet government apparently has concluded a policy reappraisal and decided against concessions or threats to block Western rearming of West Germany, American officials believe.

Russias latest moves to prevent the conversion of West Germany into a member of the anti-Soviet defense alliance are considered here obviously laking in boldness and effectiveness.

This is taken to mean that in a sense the Soviet government is resigned to German rearmament. The interpretation is that the Kremlin may have reached this attitude because (1) it was unwilling to let Germany be unified on Western terms and (2) it was unwilling to threaten seriously use of military forces against the west.

U. S. Ambassador Charles E. Bholen is due here from Moscow, probably tomorrow, for talks opening Wednesday with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles on Soviet policy and the state of relations between the United States and Russia.

* * *

DULLES AND French Premier Mendes-France announced Saturday that in their view the Western Powers should come through with "early ratification" of the agreements to make West Germany a defense partner. They thus rejected a public offer by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to delay a European security conference he has proposed provided the Western Powers were willing to delay ratification of the German treaty.

Dulles and Mendes-France, winding up four days of talks here, said that once the treaties are ratified they would be ready to go into "adequately prepared negotiations' with Russia but "not into improvised debates intended mainly for propaganda."

U.S. Expected To Be Rapped At Latin Talks

QUINTANDINHA, Brazil (AP)—Twenty-one American nations met here today for an economic conference that is expected to bring U. S. policy toward her Latin neighbors under heavy fire.

Statements expressing hemispheric solidarity were heard on all sides as the 250 delegates and experts to the Inter-American Economic Conference gathered at this hill resort 40 miles from Rio de Janeiro. But the United States, key country in all major economic and financial projects, already has indicated that she would go only a short way toward meeting the demands of other nations.

Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey, chief of the U. S. delegation, arrived last night. He said the United States already "has shown its desire in many ways" to work with her hemisphere partners to develop their power, transportation and trade. He said he was confident the meeting would bring an even greater economic buildup. He is expected to unfold details of Washington's policy in a speech tomorrow.

Other delegates withheld criticism until the U. S. position was made known officially, but there was mounting sentiment that the United States is neglecting her aid funds around the world.

Northeastern U.S. Temperature Drops

CHICAGO (AP) — Temperatures dropped sharply in the northeastern part of the United States today as the weekend's heavy rains and snowfall tapered off.

A 25-degree drop since Sunday morning gave Concord, N. H., a 36 degrees this morning. Rains ended in most of New England during the night, but changed to snow.

Scattered showers, snow flurries, drizzle and fog continued over parts of the Great Lakes region and the Midwest. Rain also continued over the Northwest.

Ike Aides Taking Stands Against Tax Slashes In '55

WASHINTON (AP) — Sentiment within the Eisenhower administration appeared today to be running strongly against any new tax reduction next year unless business falters.

High officials of four federal agencies, which presumably will influence the shaping of President Eisenhowers recommendations to Congress in January, have indicated that a final decision on tax policy hinges on business developments of the next several weeks.

But each said the state of government finances (a $4.7 billion deficit is expected by June 30) does not justify further business or individual tax cuts, assuming that the economic recovery is still on the upbeat on Jan. 1.

This probably means that the administration not only will oppose a further income tax reduction, advocated by a number of the Democrats whose party will control the next Congress, but will take a stand against scheduled reductions in corporate income and excise tax rates.

* * *

THE ORPORATE tax rate is due to drop from 52 to 47 per cent on April 1, under present law.

Several excise levies, including those on automobiles and gasoline, also are due for reduction.

One of the officials said:

"We cannot afford any tax reduction in 1955. It is a pretty safe guess that the administration will oppose even the scheduled reductions.'

Another official, pointing to the likelihood of lower federal revenues next year, said:

"Unless the business situation calls for relief, I cannot see how we can initiate tax cuts.'

A third official said:

"If we get a strong economic expansion—and this is the probability—it would seem inappropriate to reduce taxes."

The fourth hinted that agreement had been reached to defer the tax decision until the end of the year, when "economic prospects may have clarified a lot.' He said he expected to be healthy enough to do away with the need for new stimulation of the economy through tax relief. As did the others, he asked not to be named.

Nationalists Sink 2 Red Warships

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Nationalist China claimed it sank two Red Chinese warships and routed 11 in a sea battle 12 miles southeast of the Tachen Islands today.

The Defense Ministry did not say what type of Red warships was involved but they could have been armored junks, of which the Communists possess many.

In Tokyo, the Japanese coast guard reported that two Japanese fishing boats were machine-gunned and sunk by two unidentified gunboats about 20 miles east-southeast of the Tachens today. Three Japanese fishermen were killed and three injured.

Solon Doubts McCarthy's Hurts Serious

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fulbright (D - Ark) says he doubts Sen. McCarthy's elbow trouble is "quite as serious as we were led to believe" when the Senate last week suspended debate on censure charges against the Wisconsin Republican while he underwent hospital treatment.

"It seems to me," Fulbright said "that this delay is certainly consistent with an effort to prevent any vote at all."

Debate on the censure charges was broken off last week until next Monday when Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, reported McCarthy had developed "traumatic bursitis" after his elbow was injured by a handshake.

Fulbright said he wasn't questioning Dr. Calver's competence but that "there is an old custom in the Bethesda Naval Hospital that senators and congressmen make their own diagnosis."

The Senate is authorized to sit for this session only until Christmas Eve. If the vote on censure does not come by that time, the charges automatically die.

Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), who headed a special committee that recommended McCarthy be censured, said yesterday he doubts the recess "will have any effect on the final result." He said the censure debate lull may "cool off some of the people who have been emotionally upset."

Ohio Liquor Chief Named As Judge

OLUMBUS (AP)—Gov. Lausche today appointed Liquor Director Anthony A. Rutkowski as a Cleveland municipal judge.

The appointment filled a vacancy created by the resignation of Charles Vanik, who was elected a Democratic member of Congress from Ohio's 21st District.

There was speculation, but no immediate confirmation, that William C. Bryant, who preceded Rutkowski as liquor director, might return to his old job. Bryant left the liquor department when Lausche appointed him to a vacancy on the Franklin County Common Pleas Court, but was defeated for election Nov. 2.

2,330 Polling Places Slated For Checkup

Cincinnati, Youngstown, Akron, Canton Areas Hold Senator's Hopes

COLUMBUS (AP) — Democratic Sen. Thomas A. Burke today asked for recounts in 2,330 precincts in Hamilton, Stark, Mahoning and Summit counties in the hope of erasing his 6,041-vote defeat by Republican George H. Bender in the Nov. 2 election.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said Burke asked for recount of all 1,102 precincts in Hamilton County, which includes Cincinnati; all 338 precincts in Mahoning County, which includes Youngstown; all 580 precincts in Summit County, which includes Akron, and 310 of 315 precincts in Stark County, which includes Canton.

Demand for a recount requires posting of $10 bond for each precinct questioned. The bond is refunded if the recount changes the result in the precinct, or results in a change of 4 per cent or more.

Timothy S. Hogan, Cincinnati attorney acting for Burke, handed a certified check for $11,020 to the Hamilton County Board of Elections. Hogan said Burke would ask for a recount in at least 1,500 other precincts outside Hamilton County.

The Stark, Mahoning and Summit precincts add to 1,228. Other sources said recounts probably would be asked in Cuyahoga and Tuscarawas counties.

* * *

THE CHECK FOR $11,020 presented at Cincinnati, was drawn on Burke's own account in a Cleveland bank.

Hogan refused to confirm reports applications may be filed in 17 other counties involving nearly 75 per cent of the states 11,194 precincts if Burke's supporters can raise the funds they must post with election boards.

Today is the deadline announced by Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for filing recount applications.

Brown said any applications would be filed with local election boards. And the applicants must put up deposits of 10 per polling place.

The Burke forces reportedly have now raised some $25,000 to $30,000 to post for recounts.

The official count issued last Wednesday for Ohio's 88 counties gave Cleveland Republican Bender 1,258,179 to 1,252,138 for Burke.

The narrow victory gave Bender the remaining two years of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft's six - year term. Burke, former Cleveland mayor, has been serving an interim appointment by Gov. Lausche.

State Democratic leaders, including Burke; Joseph Sullivan, his campaign chairman and Democratic State Chairman Eugene H. Hanhart, conferred in Columbus yesterday and reportedly scheduled further meetings for today.

Also reported as possibilities for recount requests were Franklin, Butler, Greene, Scioto, Ashland, Ashtabula, Belmont, Clark, Columbiana, Jefferson, Licking, Muskingum, Allen, Mercer, Lawrence and Medina counties.

2 Jet Bomber Crewmen Killed

BALTIMORE (AP)—The two crew members of a Martin B57 jet bomber were killed today when the plane apparently exploded in air and crashed into the back yard of a private home near here.

The burning plane set fire to the home, but the housewife and three small children escaped without injury.

A spokesman at the Glenn L. Martin Co. plant identified the crewmen as Joseph E. Weber, 30, the pilot, a native of Hamilton, Ohio, and George P. Hodgson III, 28, aeronautical engineer, a native of Richmond, Va. Both men were single, and both lived in Baltimore.

Lad, 16, Man Held In Holdup

Police said a third suspect in the robbery of a Main Street service station escaped in the darkness after a brief chase. No charges were filed immediately.

Frank Thomas, 50, night attendent at the station, said he gave the gunmen about $80 in bills.

U.S. Diplomats See Change In Soviet Policy

ed in London by U. S., British and French officials turning down the Soviet call for a meeting Nov. 29.

Russia is thus faced with a solid Western front on its various moves to substitute an East West security system in Europe for the Western defense program to include a rearmed Germany.

Several years ago many American officials felt German rearmament at the showdown stage would involve serious risk of war with Russia. They expected the Soviets would make very belligerent gestures to keep the West from tying up this great power prize, or at least would try to get a fully neutralized Germany, even if that meant giving up East Germany. That was before Stalins death.

The fact that Moscow is reacting with familiar Soviet propaganda terms, including claims that the German agreement will destroy the asis for future European settlements, is regarded here as being in line with the general peace offensive of the Malenkov regime.

Police To Pay For Phone Call On Patrol Duty

Circleville policemen, patrolling the Circleville downtown area, will now have to pay 10 cents for each call they make back into police headquarters

Telephone company manager Ed Jury confirmed the new order.

He stated that there is no way of telling if it actually is a policeman calling in. In the past, the officers were afforded the courtesy of free calls.

Police Chief Elmer Merriman points out that the officers are required to call the station every half hour. On a six-hour tour of duty in the downtown area, this whould mean the officers have to pay $1.20 each night of foot patrol duty.

The order to pay for calls applies to any public phone in the city, Jury added.

OEA Aide Raps Social Security

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio Education Assn. members today will be asked to go on record opposing any effort to combine the Ohio teachers' retirement system with the social security program.

A research report, scheduled for presentation tonight by R. L. Morton of Athens, will ask the educators meeting here in convention to "present a united front in opposition" to such a proposal.

Morton's report says coordination with social security could result in gains for older teachers nearing retirement, but would be costly to younger teachers and newcomers to the profession.

Horsepower represents the power required to lift a weight of 33,000 pounds one foot in one minute.

Iowa Governor Fatally Hurt In Auto Crash

DES MOINES (AP)—Gov. William S. Beardsley was killed in an automobile-truck crash near here last night, less than two months before he would have completed his third term as Iowa's chief executive.

Highway patrolmen said the car crashed into the rear of a pickup truck driven by John Gardner, 54, of Des Moines, about six miles north of here.

Beardsley, 53, a Republican and one of the early supporters of Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952, was the first Iowa chief executive to die in office.

Beardsley's administration was active in promoting highway safety. He had formed the governor's official traffic safety committee, which included the heads of state departments having to do with safety, law enforcement and education, and promoted a statewide meeting of teen-agers last April to draft a safety program for young people.

Highway Patrolman Glenn McDole said when he arrived at the accident he found Gov. Beardsley lying with his head in his wife's lap. Mrs. Beardsley said:

"Bill hasn't moved."

An ambulance took the governor and Mrs. Beardsley to Iowa Lutheran Hospital, where Beardsley was pronounced dead on arrival.

Man Admits Slaying Of His Niece, 11

LEBANON, Mo. (AP)—A mild-mannered bookkeeper who developed an infatuation for his pretty 11-year-old niece admitted last night that he killed her. Then he lead officers on a 226-mile hunt for the body.

Police found the fully clothed body of Jeannette Earnest about four miles east of here in a pile of leaves just off U. S. Highway 66. The schoolgirl, missing from her Fort Worth, Tex., home since last Tuesday, had been shot in the right temple.

Sheriff Bill Decker quoted Priest as saying:

"I was afraid the family was going to take the girl away from me. If I couldn't have her, no one else could."

Decker also said Priest told him he didn't know why he shot Jeanette—"there's no reason."

"She is gone," he told police. "And as far as I'm concerned, I am willing to go too. I don't want to try to get out of it. I feel like a great burden had been taken off my mind."

Officers said that during the 226-mile trip through Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri, Priest sobbed hysterically several times.

After an autopsy, Coroner Stanley R. Palmer Jr. reported there were "no signs of criminal attack."

DEPARTURE OF 81-year-old, ailing Baron Konstantine von Neurath leaves six members of the old Nazi leadership still confined in Spandau prison on the edge of Berlin. The seven were put in the four-power prison following their Oct. 1, 1946 sentencing at Nuerenberg. Von Neurath was the "dean." Reports from inside describe Rudolf Hess as still regarding himself as the "deputy fuehrer." Walter Funk is a "gay roue in the last stages of disintegration." Architect Albert Speer spends much time drawing designs. Baldur von Schirach is the most vicious. Grand Admirals Eric Raeder and Karl Doenitz still hate each other. (International)

Sen. Bridges In Line For Policy Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges of New Hampshire today was reported in line for chairmanship of the Senate GOP Policy Committee. Such a move would fill two top leadership posts with Republicans critical at times of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, has told friends he has no intention of giving up that job although he diverges from President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles for some aspects of international policies.

While Bridges has not publicly indicated his intentions, colleagues said there is little doubt he can have the chairmanship of the party's policy committee if he wants it. The present chairman, Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, was defeated for re election.

Bridges, senior Republican in point of service in the Senate, was one of those who fought unsuccessfully against confirmation of Eisenhower's nominee for ambassador to Russia, Charles Bohlen.

Knowland and Bridges are advocates of stronger action against communism in Asia than the Eisenhower administration thus far has been willing to undertake. Both are bitter opponents of admission of Communist China to the United Nations, a possibility Eisenhower has said this nation opposes now but on which he has not foreclosed a possible future change in policy.

As chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, Bridges has been critical in the past of some of the policies of Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen.

Ohio Youth Held In Pennsy Holdup

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Paul L. Terry, 19, of Zanesville, Ohio, was arrested yesterday in connection with the theft of $15 from a Hallam service station Friday.

Police said that when Terry was picked up he was driving a car similar to one used in the robbery of Gerald Miller, the service station operator.

State police said they believed the car was stolen in Ohio.

Rescue Practice Becomes Realistic

STEUBENVILLE (AP) — Rescue squad workers carried the Weirton (W. Va.) Steel Co.'s fire chief, Edward P. Davis, 51, off Butte Field in a stretcher.

It was just part of yesterday's civil defense exercise. However, as the stretcher was set down, Davis suffered a heart attack.

Three hours later, he died in Ohio Valley Hospital.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Failure of the Senate in 1954 to reach a vote on censuring Sen. McCarthy wouldn't necessarily end the matter. The Senate could resume study of the problem as soon as the Democrats took over Congress in 1955.

It could be done by a simple majority vote on a resolution next year to take up McCarthy's case again. No doubt McCarthy's Senate friends would fight it.

Such a fight could delay the new weeks. More time would be used if a majority approved the resolution and, in due course, got around to debating censure again.

A week ago the Senate seemed to have sufficient time to reach a vote. It came back Nov. 8 to consider censure and had until its deadline of Dec. 24 to finish up.

But last week, after McCarthy went to the hospital, with a bruised elbow and Congress' official doctor said he would not be fit to return to the Senate for at least 10 days, the Senate recessd until Nov. 29.

If he returns that day his friends, although he reportedly wants a vote mav filibuster to prevent voting before Christmas Eve. If there's no vote by then, there can be none in 1954. Several of McCarthy's friends have said there will be no effort to prevent a decision this year.

It's anybody's guess what the Senate will do if McCarthy or a doctor says he can't return Nov. 29.

This is why the Senate must vote by Dec. 24 or not at all in 1954:

Any legislation — a resolution comes under that head — offered in a Congress, ends with that Congress. It does not carry over into the next Congress.

On Aug. 2 the present Senate approved a resolution — No. 301 — setting up a select committee to consider charges that McCarthy's conduct should be censured. The committee was headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah).

Any action the present Senate took on Resolution No. 301 would have to be completed before the 84th Congress took over. If the 84th wanted to resume the McCarthy case, it could do so only by a new resolution.

On Aug. 20, with its business finished for the year, the House adjourned. It could not return unless President Eisenhower called it back in special session. But on Aug. 20 the Senate was far from finished.

It would have to consider censure for McCarthy if the Watkins committee recommended that, as it did later. So House and Senate agreed that the latter could go on working but no later than Dec. 24.

The Senate could not continue debate on McCarthy beyond Dec. 24 unless the House came back and voted approval. Eisenhower would hardly call a special session just for that.

But next year's Senate could pick up the problem of censuring McCarthy if a senator introduced a resolution to do so and a majority approved.

DOUBLE THANKSGIVING DAYS

Here's Story Behind Those Holiday Observations in 1939, 1940 and 1941

President Lincoln
First proclaimed holiday.

President Roosevelt
He moved holiday forward.

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Thanksgiving Day is being observed wherever the American flag flies, yet it was only a few years ago that the nation was sharply divided over its observance.

There were those who celebrated it one day, there were those who gave their thanks—and ate their turkey—another day. In short, there were two Thanksgiving Days.

Those were the years of confusion—1939, 1940 and 1941—when America's traditional holiday became a hotly debatable issue.

The story behind them has never been generally told. It had been the custom for many years, beginning with a proclamation by Abraham Lincoln in 1863, to observe the last Thursday in November.

This was normally the fourth Thursday in the month, but in 1939 the last Thursday in November was the fifth and it fell on the 30th.

Early that autumn, one of President Franklin D. Roosevelt's assistants received a telephone call at the White House from Fred Lazarus, of Columbus, O., the head of a large department store there and in Cincinnati.

Lazarus asked the assistant to talk to two friends, a representative of Ohio retail merchants and an Ohio publisher.

* * *

THE TWO MEN subsequently arrived in Washington and told FDR's assistant they wished to discuss the Thanksgiving Day situation with him.

They pointed out the holiday fell that year on Nov. 30 and this left an unusually short shopping period before Christmas. They suggested that if Thanksgiving Day could be observed a week earlier, merchants would benefit because there would be an additional week of shopping and newspapers would obtain additional advertising.

This in turn, they added, would help business and increase employment, two important considerations at a time when there were many people out of work.

When the proposal was presented to President Roosevelt, he told his assistant it seemed worthwhile to him, but to check first whether the change would affect religious anniversaries and to determine whether the labor organizations thought it would help employment.

* * *

THE REPORT when made was favorable and the President made the announcement that he was proclaiming Thanksgiving Day a week earlier that year.

The announcement came like a bombshell. Some governors—many of them Republican, but not all—declared their states would observe the last Thursday of the month. Heated newspaper editorials were written condemning, and praising, the move.

So, in 1939, two days were observed as Thanksgiving. The same was true in 1940 and 1941 when FDR advanced the holiday again.

In 1941, Congress decided to stabilize the observance. It adopted a resolution, "that the fourth Thursday of November in each year after the year 1941 be known as Thanksgiving Day, and it is hereby made a legal public holiday to all intents and purposes."

Mr. Roosevelt signed the resolution and since then the fourth Thursday in November has been observed as the legal holiday.

Texas Records New Juror Excuse

The state earlier this month voted a constitutional amendment allowing women to serve on juries.

So an attractive young woman walked into the office of Jury Bailiff C. A. Maxwell and asked to be released from jury service.

"Why" asked Maxwell.

"I'm pregnant," said the woman.

$1 Million Fire Hits Pennsy Town

LOCK HAVEN, Pa. (AP) — A million-dollar fire that funneled through an old brick building and sent up billowing columns of smoke damaged four stores and for a time threatened an entire block of the main business section yesterday.

Some 300 volunteer firemen called from nearby communities battled more than seven hours before controlling the worst blaze in city history. At least 25 persons were treated at Lock Haven Hospital, mostly for smoke inhalation.

Two firemen suffered injures when a ladder collapsed and when another ladder fell.

An undetermined number of families living in apartments above the four stores were routed.

Fire Chief Harry Caksey said the loss would be "a minimum of a million dollars" but declined to give any further estimate.

Shotguns Pummel Thousands Ducks

VICTORIA, B. C. (AP)—Squads of shotgun-armed volunteers slaughtered more than a thousand ducks, gulls and other water birds on Victoria's beaches yesterday.

It's all an act of mercy.

The birds' feathers are soaked with heavy fuel oil that spread over wide areas of water when the U. S. freighter North Beacon went aground last Tuesday. They are unable to fly. About 3,000 have been killed

THE ASIAN CAULDRON

NEARLY 10 YEARS after the end of World War II, the instability of the two major defeated nations, Japan and Germany, is revealed almost the moment their heads of government turn their backs.

Chancellor Adenauer was forced to hurry back to Bonn, after a brief visit to the U. S., when his coalition cabinet started to come apart at the seams over his Saar agreement with France. Premier Yoshida of Japan wasn't able to start on a planned world tour for a long time due to opposition party static. When he finally took the plunge, two veteran Japanese political leaders formed a new Conservative Party for the express purpose of kicking Yoshida out of office. He was forced to return to Tokyo with alacrity.

It is more than coincidental that Adenauer and the Japanese premier were both in Washington when they were knifed at home. It is a commentary on the fact that both nations lean heavily on U. S. leadership and aid to complete their reconstruction and assimilation in the free-world orbit. Hence, while the U. S. is a paramount factor in their respective national lives, it is also the most controversial issue.

There is hope that European nations may soon be able to fend for themselves. It's the Far East and Japan in particular that may prove to be the No. 1 headache of the future.

ATOMIC AGE AND YOUTH

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY, widely regarded as a problem that requires drastic action, is being attacked by many of the nation's keenest minds. There are many contributing factors, including maladjusted homes, substandard health and welfare conditions, and lack of employment for teen-agers.

An authority on the subject now offers a brand new suggestion. Dr. Daniel L. Seckinger, public health director of the District of Columbia, says parental fears of atomic warfare are contributing to the increase in juvenile delinquency. In this period of uncertainty and aggression it is becoming difficult to influence youth, and particularly to combat that don't-care-what-happens attitude toward society and the future.

There are 19 million adolescents between the ages of 10 and 18 in the United States. It is estimated that each year more than 1 million of these are in some trouble with the police. Living under the threat of total annihilation, Dr. Seckinger says it is not surprising that the immature mind of youth should despair of the future.

Society must accept the task of reassuring teen-agers that the dangers are more imaginary than real, and that the problems of the future, regardless of how great they prove to be, will be solved.

These Days

The great profession of public relations is engaged in bringing pressures upon all of us to conform to notions which each side says represent majority opinion. If every time the phrase, "average American," is used one knew exactly what was meant, it would surely produce the evidence that there is no such creature, that most people think for themselves, more or less, and come to the very practical conclusion that we can only do the best we can in a very troubled and confused world.

Certainly the recent election does not provide any guide to what the "average American" thinks about anything. Alan Valentine, who used to be President of the University of Rochester and has held important positions in the Government, recently wrote:

". . .Good citizens are recognizing that deference to popular opinion is their highest civic virtue, that he who questions the wisdom of the majority is unworthy of their tolerance, that private doubts cannot be harbored in democratic society. But there still remain, alas, intransigent reactionaries devoted to an outworn liberal tradition; there are still some self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, and our universities still give asylum to perverse professors who are confirmed addicts of independent thought. Were it not for them, the nation might already have attained full cerebral standardization."

This I took to be satire because it is in an article entitled "A Modest Proposal for the Care and Use of Subversives," which is a reminder of Dean Swift's suggestion about eating babies to avoid famine in Ireland. Satirical as these sentences may be, the idea does prevail among too many of our citizens that because a government official says something, it is ipso facto true and should be accepted.

The citizen's problem, however, is not so much to accept judgments as it is to get at facts; what he is being fed, even in the news, is propaganda from a thousand sources. The "self-opinionated descendants of Voltaire and Thomas Paine" need not all be so-called liberals; they may be—and I think most of them are — conservatives who form a minority in a world that is moving toward socialsim.

After the United States went to war, we were all told that we must love our ally, Russia. A propaganda that reached down to the elementary grades in the schools told of the wonders of Soviet Russia. Anyone who questioned the wisdom of this propaganda was called a Fascist, pro-Nazi, pro-Japanese, a Hitler-defender, an anti-Semite.

Then when the Cold War started, we were all supposed to change our minds like the Rockettes change their steps. Suddenly, we were told how wicked the Russians really are. Now that "co-existence" is being thought of as a policy, we are supposed to think that when Stalin died, and Malenkov took his place, something suddenly happened to the Russian character and mentality which might make everything different. Presumably, when the Russians take their next step in the development of the Soviet Universal State, we shall be asked to change our minds again.

Rabies Still A Threat

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

RABIES is not, as many persons believe, a seasonal hazard. While it is usually more prevalent during the summer, rabid dogs and other animals still roam freely and are just as dangerous in November and December as in June.

Hence, some instructions may be in order at this time as to what to do in the event of a dog bite.

Wash the Wound

First, wash the wound thoroughly for about fifteen minutes. Use plenty of soap and running water. This will remove much of the animal's saliva and lessen the chance of infection.

Next, take the victim to a physician. He will probably wash the wound with green soap and water, then with a solution of an antiseptic such as one of the quaternary ammonium compounds.

Vaccine Treatment

I would suggest anti-rabies vaccine treatment be started immediately, if the animal is believed or known to have been rabid. The virus reaches the brain through the nerves; thus, the closer the bite to the brain, the quicker symptoms of rabies will appear.

On the average, it takes about eight to ten days before symptoms are noticed. However, the time may vary from ten days to several months.

Of course the animal must be apprehended, if at all possible, and kept under observation for fifteen days. If, during this time, it shows a marked change in behavior, has a tendency to hide, a stumbling gait and begins to develop signs of paralysis, usually in the lower jaw, it is a good bet the animal is rabid.

It has been estimated by various sources that the chances of getting rabies from a dog bite are from one in 1,200 to one in 2,100, if the dog is rabid.

Rabies Always Fatal

Despite these odds, you must take all necessary precautions. The odds against a person surviving rabies without anti-rabies treatment are even greater. No one has ever done it.

What medical science is doing to combat this menace to you and your children will be discussed in tomorrow's column.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

A. A.: For the past few months, I have been bothered by spots and snake-like filmy things floating through my eyes. Can you tell me if this condition can be cured, and what causes it?

Answer: Spots before the eyes is a symptom that appears in several diseases. It may be due to constipation, to a defect in the vision, to high blood pressure, or to migraine.

CHAPTER THIRTY FIVE

"POOR Earl," I said sadly.

"Never mind him," Jake Fortune said bitterly.

"He's not such a bad guy," I said gently. "He tried to protect you, and your daughter, whom he madly loves. He had a problem, and he wasn't talking, not until he knew the score. When Eileen heard me accuse him of trying to kill Ralph, she believed me, thought he had really done it—for her. That almost drove Earl crazy, trying to figure it out. For all he knew, Eileen might have been mixed up in it, too. He—"

"No," Jake Fortune said harshly. "Earl knew the score. Right after I saw you carry Ralph away, I guessed that he was still alive, and I began to run. I met Earl, and I lost my head, and I told him what I'd had to do—because he wouldn't loan me the money. I told him that I'd swear I'd seen him shoot Ralph, out of jealousy, and because he wanted Eileen. The whole country knows that she jilted him for Ralph. I told him that you might come snooping around, and to watch the ravine—I didn't want to take a chance on being seen there. Then I left him, got a rifle, and waited behind a rail fence out back where I could watch the ravine. At noon you showed up, began your poking around, and I took a shot at you."

I said, "And Rex Bishop, fixing a fence in the bottom, saw you shoot at me, and he came up to you and asked questions—and you shot him."

"I never saw the old man. I was watching you. He came walking fast up along the fence, and he was mad. He knew I'd shot at you, because he told me he'd been watching all along. He began to shout at me, and he pointed at the ravine, and— I always liked old Rex, but I had to shoot him, to keep him quiet."

I shivered, thinking of all the things that made a person kill, and I said, "Jake, there's a woman, I suppose?"

His heavy mouth went loose, and he gave me a boastful grin, "Two women, and I'm fifty-six years old." He leered at me lewdly. "A blonde in Cleveland, and a brunette in Toledo. They cost me a lot of money."

"I'll bet," I said. "When did you get the idea about Judy Kirkland? When I told you in Dan's Place that she blamed herself, that she did not want to face Ralph's folks?"

"That gave me the idea," he admitted, smiling at me. "There was no harm in trying. I went out to her place. The lights were on, and it was wide open. I found her upstairs on the bed, asleep. I locked the windows, rigged a pencil with a cord tied to it, and stuck it in the key. I read it some place, and it worked."

"It's an old trick," I said. "You ran the cord from the pencil under the door, turned the key until the bolt was almost ready to click shut, closed the door and pulled the cord. The pencil acted as a lever and flipped the key over, locking the door from the inside. The pencil fell to the floor, and you pulled it out under the door. I saw the yellow speck on the key last night, but I didn't tumble until now that it was paint from one of your pencils. You couldn't be certain of what Earl Seltzman would do, so you tried to frame Judy, too."

He tossed the pencil he'd been holding across the table. "Maybe that's the one I used," he said.

"There'll be dents in it, from the pressure on the key," I said.

"Why don't you look at it and see?" he invited.

I let the pencil lay and watched him. "And then you typed the suicide note on Judy's typewriter."

"With one finger."

I thought of old Rex Bishop, and of Judy, too. She would have died if I hadn't found her as I did. Maybe, for me, in the final scoring, the one life would cancel out the other. I hoped so, and I said, "You followed me to Dan's Place, knowing that I was looking for Earl Seltzman, because I'd been to his house. You went in ahead of me, warned Earl that I was hunting for him. He ducked out the back door, after telling his poker pals that I was a pesky insurance salesman, and to cover for him. He was already leery of me, because I'd slapped him around a little, and he didn't know what you were up to. You knew that I would guess that Earl had scooted out the back door, that I would come out that way, too, and you waited behind the can in the alley, and—" I stopped, remembering the sound of the bullets.

"I'm a rotten shot," he said. "Always have been."

"You missed me three times," I said.

"I won't miss now."

The fear returned, and I had a wild desire to jump up and run. But with the fear there was the rage, suddenly flaming, and at the same time another part of my brain cautioned me to be crafty, to induce him to delay the moment when he would decide to pull the trigger of the gun I knew now he held beneath the table. "It won't work," I heard my voice saying. "They'll get you, Jake."

"Earl's car is out in back," he said. "The keys are in it and the tank is full. I checked, before I came in. The tires on my car are bad, but in Earl's car I can get a long way, maybe to Mexico. I've still got a couple of thousand in cash from the Cleveland cattle deal." He paused, and said in a whisper, "Buck up, Bennett." His teeth showed between his lips. "You can only die once."

"Don't do it, Jake," I screamed.

Violently I pushed against the table, and my chair went backward. The kitchen roared with the blast of his gun. It was as if a baseball had been thrown, quite hard, against my right side, above the belt. The impact made me gasp and I slammed on my back on the kitchen floor. My legs felt dead, but there was no pain.

Jake Fortune was on the floor, too, twisted sideways, the table on top of him. I clawed the .38 from my overcoat pocket, pushed myself to one elbow, tried to steady the gun. Fortune rolled clear of the table, and he fired as he rolled, the bullet splintering the wooden cabinet beside my head. I fired, my wrist wobbling, and I knew that I had missed. A flower pot on the window sill behind him flew to bits. He pushed himself upward, swaying on his knees. I had plenty of time to aim carefully. The kitchen seemed to jump with the muzzle blast and a little black hole appeared in Jake Fortune's shirt over his right shoulder. The impact rocked him, and his gun arm dangled limply.

"All right, Jake," I said. "You're done."

Grimacing, he grasped his right wrist with his left hand and he brought the gun up and around. I yelled, "No!" but he swung the gun toward me.

There was only a split second of time left, and I didn't have any choice. I shot him in the face.

I made it to the telephone and pulled the receiver toward me and asked for Sheriff Morrissy. Then I passed out on the floor.

Close beside me a voice said, "Hello, Jim."

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

news behind the news

By Ray Tucker

WASHINGTON —American efforts to win friends abroad by feeding the hungry have backfired badly because of the blundering of Foreign Operation Administrator Harold E. Stassen and State Department interference. What was labeled rather ostentatiously by FOA as "Operation Poinsettia" has no association with Christmas charity, or coloration except that it is snafued in government red tape.

President Eisenhower is reported to be irritated, with this humanitarian venture's execution and with the Minnesota politician who heads it. As happened last year gifts of food scheduled for Christmas delivery will not reach their needy recipients until February. Worse still, the wrong kinds of food are being sent to the wrong countries.

As an American Santa Claus, Stassen has been a "bust."

* * *

SLIPSHOD—Meat supplies, for instance, are going to beef-producing Argentina, where the finest steaks are common fare. Roast beefs are scheduled for areas where any red meat is proscribed by religious laws. While American housewives buy margarine to save pennies in the household budget, tons of butter will be forwarded to such dairy-rich countries as Norway, Finland and Sweden.

Although starvation stalks through such strategic places as India and Pakistan, their peoples will receive nothing because of a State Department ruling. State has held that there are so many underfed people in Asia that an American contribution would be only a crumb in the cupboard. Yet vast stores will go to less unfortunate lands.

Stassen's office made such a botch of Christmas giving last year that it was decided to let accredited private relief agencies handle the distribution in 1954. The government would provide, package and ship the food, and the established relief units would distribute it overseas.

* * *

FAILURE — This reorganization has failed to improve the situation because the initial operation was turned over to four different Federal agencies. It was an excellent example of bureaucracy not at work.

Agriculture was supposed to supply surplus commodities to firms for processing raw materials into food. State and Foreign Operations would decide where the stuff was to be sent. The General Services Administration would deliver the goods to private firms for packaging, and then ship it overseas. Upon arrival, the private agencies would supervise actual distribution.

But there was no single director or coordinator for this complicated program. There was confusion and delay and cross-purposing. During the period when there was need for a strong head and hand Stassen was junketing in Europe. It is now too late to correct initial mistakes.

It is obvious that the operation would have been performed more promptly and efficiently, if it had been turned over in to an organization like CARE, which is doing its own packaging of Federal supplies, and expects to make deliveries on schedule, with Christmas as the deadline.

In order to help out Harold, the public may also contribute to 'Operation Hunger," as it is known in non-Stassen circles. A dollar will buy 28 pounds of food through this medium.

Finally, it is probable that Ike will provide a new American Santa Claus, not only for Christmas, 1956, but also for every day in the year.

LIVELY — Democratic control of Congress has one happy aspect. For some reason, Democrats are always more colorful, more exuberant, more lively than their Republican opposites. The latter trend to be more restrained, more conservative, more introverted. Washington caterers' profits soar under Democratic regimes, fall under Republican rule.

An example of the transformation is the uninhibited William M. (Fishbait) Miller, who returns as doorkeeper of the House of Representatives in January. Under the Republicans, he stepped down to an assistant's job.

Several years ago, Doorkeeper Miller was showing the then Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh through the House, which was not in session. He escorted Princess Elizabeth to the Speaker's rostrum, and then turned to Gus Cook, assistant architect, who was walking with Edinburgh.

"Hey, Gus," said Miller, "hand me up the Duke!"

Try, Stop Me

A doubty protestant, aged 9, arrived home with a black eye. It developed that he had offended his friend, Tim Donovan, by exclaiming, "Down with the Pope!" "But, my dear boy," cried his distressed mother, "surely you must have known that the Donovans are Catholic!"

"I knew the Donovans are," explained the injured lad, "but how could I tell the Pope was too?"

Herbert Mayes, editor of Good Housekeeping Magazine, describes a publisher as "a man who goes around with a worried look on his assistants' faces."

No Taste For Roast Thrush

LAROCHE, Belgium (AP) — All my life I have wanted to become a real gourmet, one who makes an art of eating.

I guess I never will. I flunk out on the very first test—which is, that the true gourmet never lets his conscience interfere with his palate.

For example this year an African native politician disappeared on a campaign tour and presumably was consumed by his constituents. The average voter, no matter what his politics, considers such a thing unjustified, regardless of the candidate's stand on the tariff or whether he favored legalizing bingo.

Your true gourmet, on the other hand, would be interested only in how the politician was cooked, what kind of sauce was employed, and what kind of wine would be proper for the occasion.

I mention this only because I have again foundered in my efforts to become a gourmet. The piece de resistance in this case was not a politician, but something even more vulnerable called a grive.

I have been journeying through Belgium with a group of American travel writers, and life has been one banquet after another. The food in the Ardennes is wonderful at this time of year and full of a sweet-tasting venison, acorn-ripened wild boar steaks that make ordinary pork pallid in comparison.

My first encounter with venison did trouble me (I love the image of a springing deer) but I calmed my qualms and manfully downed it by telling myself "In this world everybody's after a fast buck."

And just when I thought I was becoming a hardened gourmet at last—well, in they came with a grive on my plate.

What was it? Nobody in our group knew for sure. It was a small bird, roasted a lovely brown. It had been cooked with its head on, and served with the head bent under the wings and legs, which were crossed across its breast in a shy, protective gesture.

"Looks like that old painting called 'September Morn.'" someone suggested. We guessed it must be a tiny squab or some kind of sparrow.

The next problem was how to eat it. With knife and fork I feebly attacked the grive. It immediately let its head fall back and flung its wings and legs apart. It looked somehow like a baby that needed a diaper.

Hunger left me at once. But feebly I took off a morsel with my fork. It was dark and gamey, and I had a hard time swallowing it.

The Belgian sportsman sitting next to me noticed my difficulty.

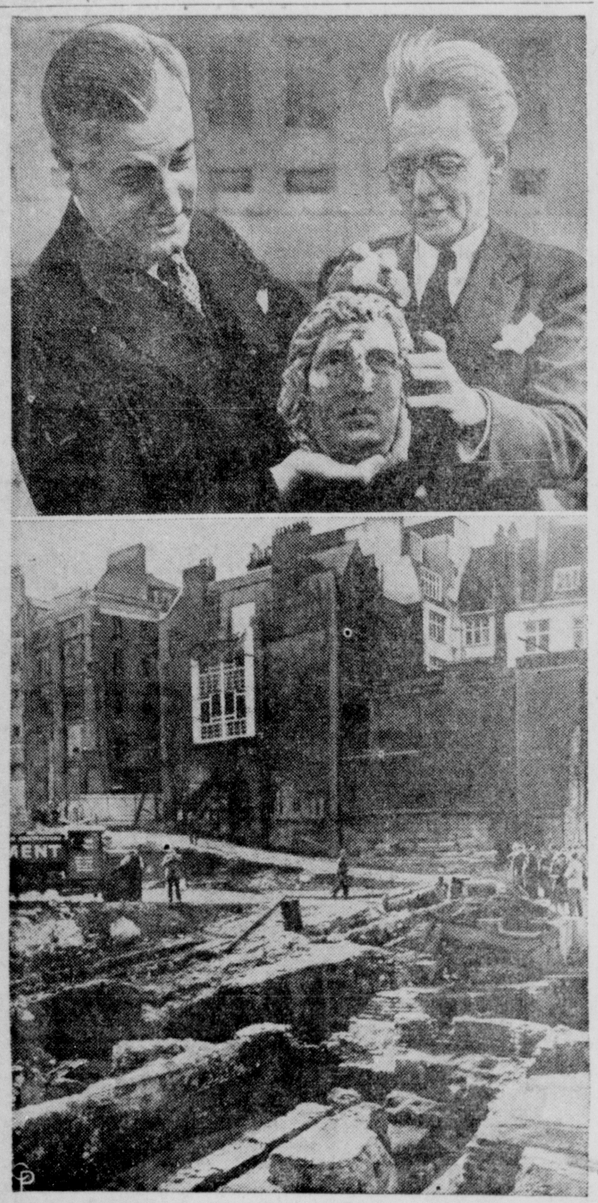

"Very delicious," he said, kissing his fingers. He then showed me how to eat a grive. He ripped the bird apart, wolfed it down, thrust the head in his mouth and demolished it with gusto.

Fighting down an urge to get up and run, I asked him what a grive was. As best I could understand his explanation, filtered through my forgotten year of college French, he said:

"A grive is a thrush, game bird here. We trap it. It is a very greedy bird, and its greed is its own undoing. When it thrusts its head through a small looped snare to get at a berry, the noose tightens around its throat and hangs it."

"A grive is a thrush is a thrush is a thrush." The words rang through my mind. I remembered how as a Boy Scout I had prowled through the woods identifying different birds to win a merit badge. What would my old scoutmaster think of me now, sitting here with a cooked, sweet-singing thrush on my plate?

My Belgian friend looked puzzled as I pushed the grive away. I felt there was no use trying to explain to him that to me a thrush meant music, and that if I were ever hungry enough to eat musical instruments I would prefer to start by munching on a tuba or nibbling on the legs of a concert piano.

Curfew For Kids Awakens Oldsters

It says that kids under 15 must be off the streets by 11 p.m.

And to let them know, city fathers mark the curfew hour each night by letting go with the town fire siren.

Cactus Jack Alert On 86th Birthday

UVALDE, Tex., (AP)—Former Vice President John Nance (Cactus Jack) Garner, in quiet retirement here, observed his 86th birthday today

He planned to celebrate it as he always does: Hunting with long-time friend Ross Brumfield in the southwest Texas hills around here.

"Deer better watch out," he said the other day. "I've got a keen eye."

White-haired and shrunken with age, Garner lives a placid life in his pecan tree-shaded home here, looking after his chickens and reading. He hardly ever talks politics.

THE KINEMINS—NEW 'RACE' INVADES MOVIES

By FRED HIFT
Central Press Correspondent

NEW YORK—Movieland is full of characters, but none stranger than that brand-new race of "actors" billed as the Kinemins.

To be sure, they are only puppets, one-third life size and with insides made of steel and aluminum, but there all resemblance ends with their brothers and sisters in the nursery.

For the Kinemins, carrying a price tag of $3,000 each, are little people with a real personality, capable of responding to electronic commands to smile, cry, twitch an eye-brow, wrinkle their nose, pucker their lips or frown in anger. In short, they are the first puppets built to change their facial expressions at the turn of a distant dial.

These amazing miniatures, human replicas down to the most minute detail, are currently starred in their first movie, Hansel and Gretel, a colorful adaptation of Humperdinck's well-loved children's opera based on the Grimm fairy tale.

Michael Myerberg, a well-known Broadway producer, got the idea of presenting life-like three-dimensional figures on the screen 15 years ago. By the time he realized his dream, he had spent over $600,000 in developmental work alone and was employing a veritable army of experts—sculptors, technicians, doctors, chemists, dancers, animators and dressmakers.

* * *

THE KINEMINS are not moved by strings or any other attachment. The feet are magnetized, so they are able to remain standing in any position desired. To create the illusion of smooth movement on the screen, animators — working through trap doors in the scenery —move the little figures a fraction of an inch each time the camera clicks off another frame. This is known as the top-motion technique.

The workmanship that goes into each of the puppets is almost incredible. First the figure is laid out on the drawing board, then it is sculptored and split in half.

* * *

AN INDIVIDUAL armature of complex bearings and "feelers" is micrometrically fitted into one of the halves so as to duplicate the natural joints and major muscles of the body. The entire figure is then covered with a rubbery, astonishingly skin-like substance that is soft and pliable.

The job doesn't end there, however. Once the wardrobe department gets through, and the head is covered with human hair, the camera people move in for "screen test." "Quite a few of my boys and girls failed to make it," sighs "Papa" Myerberg.

For each of the Kinemins, Myerberg's artists create an "extra," just in case of accidents, and a separate head for close-ups. Electrical impulses from a complex, 12-unit machine control the expressions. According to Myerberg, each face is capable of some 800,000 variations in looks as it becomes animated by the pulsations.

To assure his figures of complete naturalness or movement, Myerberg had his cameramen shoot thousands of feet of film of children going through the same motions as were required of his puppets. Ballet dancers and medical specialists were brought in to check on muscle movements.

* * *

AS THE PUPPETS stood fastened to the magnetized stage, animators were able to take advantage of their perfect construction which permitted such small action as the crooking of a finger.

Myerberg started work on his puppets at the old Fort Lee studio in New Jersey. Today he runs his studio-factory in a rickety old brownstone on Manhattan's East Side.

The wide stage on which his artists created the Hansel and Gretel wonderland of the dark woods, the broommaker's house and the gingerbread cottage once was used as a dance floor for Italian, Greek and Polish festivities. Each building was constructed cardboard fashion to allow walls to be removed and give the cameras a convenient peek inside.

No one could be prouder of his puppets than Myerberg, who calls them his "children." Best of all, he boasts, "I've got something all Hollywood will envy me for—actors who don't talk back!"

Flood-Weakened Bridge Collapses

TORONTO (AP) — Weakened by recent floods, a Toronto bridge collapsed last night and tumbled a truck 20 feet into a stream. The vehicle's two youthful occupants escaped.

Driver Bruce Logan, 21, said he saw the structure sag when his truck was in the middle. "I knew I'd never make it across," he said, "so I just hung on."

The truck landed upright with a steel girder on top, wedging the doors shut The two youths smashed a window and scrambled up the bank They suffered severe cuts and bruises.

SUZANNE BECHARD, 5, of Albany, N. Y. is shown after she had been crowned "Little Miss U.S.A." in New York City. As winner in the nationwide contest she received $7,500 in prizes and a trip to Bermuda with both her parents.

PETER MAKAREWICZ, 15, of Norwood, Mass., is handcuffed to a policeman as he is taken from the Dedham, Mass., jail for arraignment on a murder charge in the slaying of Geraldine Annese, 15. The girl was found strangled in a garage near her home. (International)

Sokolsky's These Days

It is not so long ago that this same kind of government propaganda was devoted to causing us to believe that Chinese Communists are not Communists at all but "agrarian reformers." I shall never forget listening to a businessman, who fancies himself as a great authority on foreign relations, telling me that he had it from substantial people that these Chinese Communists were not associated with the Russians at all; that they were only interested in land reform. When I told him about my personal experiences with these same Chinese Communists, from 1921 to 1931, he said, "Well, I have it from very substantial people that all they want is land reform." Then came the Korean War.

There is no greater pressure for conformity from the most ardent conservatives than from the government itself and to one who respects the memory of Voltaire and Thomas Paine, all intellectual goose-stepping is a mark of moral degeneration. When a Congressional committee investigates subversion and espionage, it is not pressing for conformity; it is investigating subversion and espionage, in which anyone may engage if he is willing to risk the consequences of violations of the law. There have always been men and women who forthrightly and courageously were willing to take that risk for what they believed to be true without hiding behind the Fifth Amendment or any other device.

About five per cent more boys than girls are born in the United States.

Nation's Most Luxurious Army Post Once Was Fashionable Girls' School

By RAYMOND WILCOVE
Central Press Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The nation's most luxurious Army post has to be seen to be believed. Here are to be found a Japanese pagoda, a Swiss chalet, a London theater, a Dutch windmill, a castle with a drawbridge, a Spanish mission house, an imported Italian fountain, and a grand ballroom with a 70-foot high ceiling.

The walks are lined with statuary and huge trees and the wind rustles softly through the cool glens and over the bubbling creeks.

However, no one will accuse the Army of "putting on the dog" or wasting the taxpayers' money at Forest Glen, as it is known, for this plush place is dedicated to healing the sick.

Here, just outside the nation's capital, patients who are able to walk about are able to rest and build their strength for the trials that lay ahead of them in the world outside.

A duty officer of Walter Reed Army Medical Center occupies this Chinese pagoda building, typical of the unique old-world type of Forest Glen buildings.

* * *

FOREST GLEN is the Maryland annex of the Walter Reed Army Medical Center, to which ambulatory patients are transferred after their stay in Washington. However, unlike other Army posts, "The Glen" has a personality all its own.

In the 1890s it was a resort known as Ye Forest Inn. Later it was a gambling casino and for 50 years after that a school for fashionable ladies. The National Park seminary was, for a time, probably the best known school for girls in the nation.

The Spanish mission house, the pagoda, the windmill, the Swiss chalet and the mansion with the high ceiling were used as sorority houses at the girls' school. Today they are officers' quarters.

How they all got there is something of a mystery. The Japanese pagoda, it is known, was acquired from the 1892 Chicago World's Fair.

Mrs. Margaret Turner, who lives in it, says "it's a wonderful place to live in, but I don't care for Japanese furnishings.

Another type of unusual architecture is this Dutch windmill house which has lost its "blades" since the days of occupation by the National Park Girls school.

* * *

MRS. TURNER has equipped the house with American antiques. Her husband is Lt. Col. F. A. Turner, chief of the center's dental clinic.

The Dutch windmill is occupied by Col. James H. Mackin, the medical center's executive officer, and Mrs. Mackin. The latter says living in a windmill "is a little odd, but we love it."

Lt. Col. Royce E. House and his wife live in what used to be the seminary library. Mrs. House, newly arrived at the place, said the place was a challenge to her ingenuity. "It's going to be fun furnishing it," she remarked. The living room has a 14-foot ceiling and a balcony on all sides.

The castle with the drawbridge houses a nurses' recreation hall and the grand ballroom in the main building is a GI recreation lounge which probably has no peer in all the world.

The floor is 40 by 85 feet. There are tiered boxes on all sides, Greek statuary, and stained glass windows. At the end of the large building is the London theater, now occupied by Army bandsmen and their baggage.

However, despite its strange appearance, there are unmistakable signs that it is an Army post. By a fireplace there is an Army suggestion box and in a hallway is a mirror with the caption, "Soldier, Check Your Appearance."

You Getting Bald Buy A Good Hat

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—A University of Michigan doctor says if your mother and father are bald and your head is taking on the proportions of a billiard ball, the only answer is a good-looking hat.

Dr. Thomas G. Jansen of the university's Medical School, says he recommends throwing away hair lotions and advises persons not to be misled by advertisements. "Just recognize the inevitable and adjust accordingly," says the skin specialist.

Advising women on home waves and dyes, the doctor says:

"If you have noted any skin changes following the use of home waves or dyes, it would be wise not to use them again. Severe reactions could follow continued use."

Pills In Denmark Work Too Well

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Something went wrong the other day at a Danish plant making pills designed to cause an aversion to alcohol.

Invisible dust of the recipe wafted throughout the building. The plant's workers didn't mind until the end of the shift. But then, when they hoisted their evening glasses of beer, they found none could stomach the brew.

Scramble On For Berths In Bowl Games

Only Rose Tournament Teams Now Picked For New Year's Day Test

The Associated Press

The scramble of lucrative bowl berths was not over by any means today, but no matter how the final pairings line up the "natural" of the year won't take place.

The Rose Bowl is the only one of the four big postseason extravaganzas filed It will pit twice-beaten Southern California against mighty Ohio State. UCLA, possibly the only team in the country capable of giving the Buckeyes an argument, played in the Rose Bowl last Jan. 1, and by Pacific Coast Conference edict, can't appear again.

As far as college football goes, that's a genuine tragedy. Both Ohio State and UCLA boast proud 9-0 records Both are undisputed masters of their conferences — UCLA the PCC and Ohio State the Big Ten—and they rate the Nos. 1 and 2 teams in the nation.

If there was any doubt as to who was best in the PCC, it was dispelled last Saturday when UCLA clubbed the Trojans 34-0. Ohio State meanwhile was winning its seventh Big Ten game, a 21-7 decision over Michigan

Two other teams emerged with bowl assignments. They were Arkansas for the Cotton Bowl host and Nebraska as the visitor for the Orange Bowl. Both sneaked in the back door.

Arkansas was beaten by Louisiana State 7 6, and Nebraska suffered a 55-7 pasting at the hands of Oklahoma. But . . . Baylor beat Southern Methodist 33-21 in a Southwest Conference game Since SMU was Arkansas' only competitor for the Cotton Bowl assignment, the defeat spelled finish for the Mustangs. Baylor still can tie Arkansas for the league title, but the Razorbacks had the forethought to whip Baylor earlier in the season to clinch it.

Oklahoma like UCLA is barred from appearing in the Orange Bowl two years in a row, the runner-up gets it this year. Oklahoma's victory over Nebraska gave the Sooners their seventh straight Big Seven title.

Kansas State was the only team that had a chance of overtaking Nebraska in the race for second place. Colorado beat State 38-14 and that settled things.

If Duke can get past North Carolina Saturday, the Blue Devils no doubt will get the Atlantic Coast Conference spot in the Orange Bowl A vote is taken, but Duke will have a spotless record compared to one tie against Maryland. Conversely, if the Blue Devils lose, Maryland probably will get the nod for the second straight year.

Should Mississippi win the Southeastern Conference championship by getting past Mississippi State Saturday, Ol' Miss will act as host team in the Sugar Bowl. Baylor has a good chance of being named the visitor.

The settling of the Southeastern race also will enable the Cotton Bowl selectors some width in deciding the team to oppose Arkansas. Auburn and Kentucky, winners of their last five in a row, appear to have the inside track.

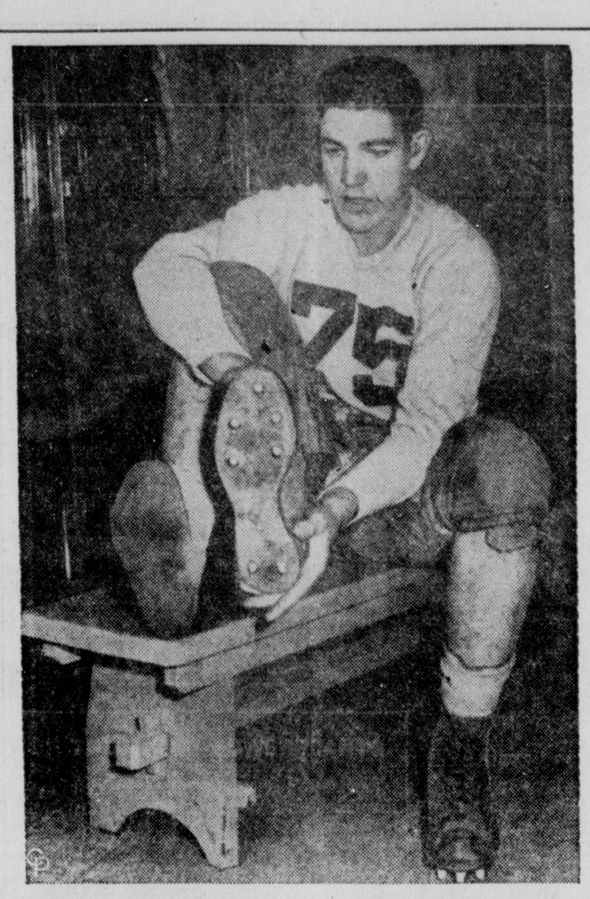

Wichita finally won a Missouri Valley crown with a 20-0 victory over Detroit and probably will get a bid to the Gator Bowl. Any of the teams passed over for the Cotton or Sugar bowls can get the other spot.

The mythical Ivy League title still is unsettled because Harvard upended Yale, the leader, 13-9. A result, Harvard won the Big Three championship (Harvard-Yale-Princeton) and this one is more important to the three teams involved than the league crown.

Notre Dame beat Iowa 34-18.

Columbus Still Aflutter About Rose-Sniffing Bucks

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Buckeye capital was still a bit ga-ga today over Rose-Bowl-bound Ohio State's football deeds of dweeing-do.

The wild weekend of celebration was ver, and as they emerged from the hangover haze the fans, who live and die as Buckeye grid fortunes rise and fall, began to realize their favorites had just about "won it all.'

Saturday's 21-7 victory over Michigan was enough, in itself, to turn the state upside down. But with it went the bid to the Rose Bowl, second in five years for the Bucks, the Western Conference undisputed championship with a 7-0 record, and unbeaten - untied 9-game season. The national title vote wasn't in yet, but the Bucks were slated to be "there or thereabouts."

Stated bluntly, the state "went nuts.'

As pulse beats slowly neared normal today, fans started a race for Rose Bowl tickets, only to be brought up short George Staten, who handles ducats for the Bucks, said Ohio's allotment of 12,800 for the Pasadena classic would fill about one-fifth of the requests.

To even have a chance, you must be a student, faculty member, a member of the West Coast Alumni Assn., or one of the university's regular season ticket buyers. Students and faculty members must pick up their tickets on the Coast, and show photographic identification to get 'em.

Coach Woody Hayes, who hit the jackpot in his fourth year at the Ohio helm, was on a "business as usual" basis despite the furor. He and his staff were together at 7 a.m. Sunday for a look at the Michigan pictures, then went to church.

Allowed a 44-man squad for the Rose Bowl trip and 16 days of practice, Hayes started his arrangements today. The 44 - man squad will fly to Pasadena the morning of Dec. 18, will stay at the Huntington Hotel there, and will practice at Brookside Park just across the road from the famed Bowl.

Another 24 members of the squad, and wives of 12 players, will go by train, but the 24 will go as spectators only. The playing squad will be limited to the original 44, regardless of injuries.

Hayes said he'd probably hold three practices here in early December, and he has made arrangements to use the field house of Denison University, his alma mater 30 miles away, in case of poor weather. The Buck coach plans to use the other 13 practice days on the Coast for the final tuneup for the clash with Southern California.

Bucks Gain 3 Berths On All-Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Ohio State captured three berths and six schools in all were represented on the 1954 All-Big Ten football team selected today by the Associated Press.

Michigan, Purdue and Wisconsin each was awarded two positions and one each went to Minnesota and Iowa on the honor team.

Besides the deadly-armed Dawson, the all-conference backfield had Ohio State's Hopalong Cassady and Minnesota's Bob McNamara at halfbacks and Wisconsin's Alan Ameche at fullback.

Ameche was one of three repeaters from the APs 1953 team. The two other holdovers were the guards in a 212-pound average all-star line, Tom Bettis, Purdue senior, and Cal Jones, Iowa junior.

Paired with Kramer at end was Ohio State's 213-pound senior wingman, Dean Dugger. The other Michigan player honored was 218-pound tackle, Art Walker, a senior, while Ohio State's third All-Big Ten post went to senior tackle Dick Hilinski, heaviest man on the team at 231.

National Loop Ready To Talk 10-Unit Setup

NEW YORK (AP) — The majors launched their annual draft meeting today but the big baseball news may emanate from another session, held by the National League alone, later in the day.

Although they insisted only routine business was to be discussed, reports persisted that the National League executives were to discuss plans for invading California and expanding into a 10-team circuit.

Provision for such expansion already has been made by the National, as well as the American League. It was believed the older league was determined to press for immediate investigation of such future sights as Los Angeles and San Francisco, in a race to win those two rich Pacific Coast League territories.

The owners may also hear from Bill Veeck, former head of the St. Louis Browns, employed by Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs to explore the major league possibilities of Los Angeles and Frisco. In order to add either of these cities, the majors would have to draft it and pay damages to the remaining Pacific clubs.

"I wouldnt be a bit surprised if the 10-club matter came up at our meeting," an unidentified National League club owner said. "I believe both major leagues will consist of 10 clubs within two or three years.'

Bulk Of Ohio's Grid Season Now Deflated

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio colleges have a couple of Thanksgiving Day games on tap, but the bulk of the Buckeye football season is over.

And as the statisticians looked at the record, they figured Bob Brownson of Ashland College had come up with one of the country's astounding coaching jobs.

A year ago, at Portsmouth High, Brownson won nine straight games, finished second to Massillon in the state championship race, and won the award as the high school coach of the year and coach of the Southern All-Star team.

He surrendered the Portsmouth post to return to Ashland, his alma mater, as head coach Taking over a team which had won only one of eight games in 1953, scoring 79 against 192, he turned in a perfect 7-game season and blasted the opposition 119 to 28. His defensive mark was 40 points under Ohio State and Capital, tied at 68.

Western Conference champion—Ohio State.

Mid-American Conference champion—Miami.

Ohio Conference champion—Heidelberg.

Mid-Ohio League champion—Ashland.

Sandlot Football Game Kills Lad, 15

CINCINNATI (AP) — John Fearing, a 15-year-olo freshman high school student, died yesterday during a neighborhood football game. The 6-1, 180-pound youth was described by his brother, Richard, as being "too big for his age."

Two companions, Don Freeman and Roy Barnes, said John "just fell down, started turning blue and then lay there without moving." Cause of death has not been reported.

The figures include all games played by Big Ten teams.

Ohio State's Bobby Watkins, injured on the first play in the Michigan game, finished third with 57 points.

Pleasantville's forward wall showed its scoring power. Both forwards each scored 13 points while the center Barr, had 18.

21 College Teams Wind Up Unbeaten

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-one college football teams, including top ranked Ohio State and second rated UCLA, have completed unbeaten and untied seasons.

Five more, headed by third ranked Oklahoma, also have perfect marks but have not completed their schedules. Ohio State, headed for the Rose Bowl, and UCLA, champions of the Pacific Coast Conference, wound up with nine victories each.

Smith, Andrews Face Top Bouts

Fine Goal Line Stand Nets 6-0 Victory For Brown "11"

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's Browns put on their finest goal line stand in four years yesterday while trimming the Philadelphia Eagles and moving into first place for the first time this season.

All the points in the 6-0 victory resulted from the field goal kicking of Lou Groza, but they would have been both in vain except for the rugged show put on by the defensive unit.

Philadelphia, aided by a pass interference penalty, gained a first down on the Cleveland one yard line late in the last quarter. Twice the beefy Browns stopped fullback Neil Worden without gain and then the Eagles were penalized five yards for delaying the game.

Bobby Thomason threw one wild pass after that and his last desperate toss was batted down by the Browns.

"The way that defensive line was performing, nothing was impossible," Coach Paul Brown remarked after the game. "It was great and probably finished the Eagles."

Brown, who declared "this was the big game and both teams knew it," agreed with tackle John Kissell who contended the Browns "would have held 'em even without that five-yard penalty."

The last time the Browns put up such a tight defense was in a divisional playoff against the New York Giants in 1950. The Giants, who held the ball for 10 straight downs because of penalties, failed to score then after making a first down on the Brown 3. Cleveland finally won, 8-3.

The Browns' 100th victory in their glossy nine - year history moved them half a game in front of New York in the National Football League's Eastern Division. The Giants lost, 17-16, to Los Angeles yesterday.

Flying fists and elbows marked the rough defensive battle. Groza, loudly expressing a desire to settle differences with Philadelphia's Frank Kilroy, was pulled away by teammates as the game ended.

Groza booted a first quarter field goal after Otto Graham passed to Pete Brewster for 57 yards and a first down on the Eagle 10. Three running plays failed to go the distance and "The Toe" booted from the 10.

He missed a 34-yard kick in the second quarter.

Aided by a 15-yard penalty for roughing, the Browns got a first down on the Eagle 11 in the third quarter but failed in a try for a touchdown. After Adian Burk kicked out, Chet Hanulak ran the ball back 17 yards to the Philadelphia 26. The attack bogged down there and Groza kicked his second three-pointer, this time from 32 yards out.

Statistically, the Browns fared better than their six-point victory margin showed. They gained 111 yards running and 185 passing, against Philadelphia's 57 running and 53 passing.

Cleveland lost the opening game of the season to the Eagles, 28-10, and was not able to regain its accustomed place at the top of the heap until the return game.

The Cleveland Browns and the New York Giants, two of professional football's finest defensive clubs, collide at the Polo Grounds in New York Sunday in a game that should settle the wrestling for the Eastern Division title of the National Football League.

"They'll have a psychological edge," New York Coach Jim Lee Howell said. "They beat us last month 24-14."

Coach Hampton Pool of the Los Angeles Rams won't pick a winner but he calls the Giants the most improved club in the league.

"I couldnt believe the Giants were that good," Pool said. "They'll be tough for Cleveland. They'll be up. This is their 'must' game."

This was after the Rams had beaten the Giants 17-16 in a football melodrama yesterday.

Detroit, after a bad scare, slipped by Green Bay 21-17 and took a firmer grip on its third straight Western Division championship.

In other games, the Chicago Bears took Baltimore 28-13 and the Chicago Cards thumped Washington 38-16. San Francisco dumped Pittsburgh 31-3 Saturday night.

Twice yesterday New York fought from behind, led 16-10 at the half and might have pulled it out with a fourth-period field goal. Ben Agajanian's kick from the 42 bumped the crossbar and dropped back onto the playfield field.

6 Persons Killed So Far In Race

MEXICO CITY (AP)—One of the bloodiest of all Pan American road races entered its fourth and next to last day today with no driver in any of the five classes holding a safe lead.

Six persons have been killed and more than a score injured in the first three days of the $117,200, 1,908-mile race from Mexico's tropical southern border to Ciudad Juarez opposite El Paso, Texas, on the Rio Grande River.

Two spectators were killed yesterday, three injured, and five drivers hurt, two seriously.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

We hope you didn't miss Fred Waring's recent TV presentation of "Over the river and through the woods,—TO Grandmother's house we go."

To many, what happy recollections came to life. You know, we can't help but feel sorry for those who had nothing stashed away in memories' storehouse, which would respond to this Thanksgiving musical classic. I am wondering if it is still sung in our schools about this time of the year. Surely it is not generally taught to our school children, else we would not have had so much difficulty, not so long ago, in locating a copy of the song. Many of us can recall how, at old Everts, in Miss Mader's room, we practiced and we practiced on this.

We kids sang "cappella" those days—we had no such thing as a piano. No—we got on approximately the right key from Miss Minturn's pitch-pipe, and from there—well, only occasional wave of the blackboard pointer—our music teacher's baton—kept us in unison and on the beat. And don't think for a moment that this song was just a primary grade must—it was just as popular and loved as much by the High School students.

Remember those assemblies in the morning in Miss Drum's room Remember there we did have a piano, and how Sally Egan could make that old Square respond Remember how hard our teachers worked and what fun we had, practicing songs and recitations for the big afternoon on the last day before Thanksgiving holidays And how, for many days before, all the rooms had been prettied up for the occasion by Mr. Van's budding Michelangelos' blackbaord, colored-chalk drawings—pumpkins, cornshocks, gobblers, Puritan Gallants and their Priscilla Maidens and—possibly an Indian Chief or a brave here and there

Maybe then we didn't appreciate the joy of it all—but we do now—even though the time dates back to "horse and buggy days." We believe we can hear some of today's youthful sophisticates saying—"kid stuff". Yes—we amit there was some "kid stuff" invloved in those Thanksgiving day preparations, but not in the way they are thinking. Maybe it had been a long time since Grandma had seen Junior—so Junior was in for some pretty rigid disciplinary coaching on how to behave at Grandma's house.

You know—sterness was an honored attribute of parents in those days and the hickory stick, the proverbial wood-shed and the use of the word "Don't" were not taboo. Codes of behavier for the youngsters were quite comprehensive and rigid. Some were a bit odd and old-fashioned, but many still should be fundamental rules of civility.

"Every action done in company ought to be with some sign of respect to those that are present.

"Sleep not when others speak.

"Put not off your clothes in the presence of others, nor go out of your chamber half drest.

"If anyone come to speak to you while you are sitting, stand up—though he be your inferior.

"Strive not with your superiors in argument, but always submit your judgment to others with modesty.

"In your apparel, be modest and endeavor to accomodate nature rather than procure admiration—play not the peacock.

"If you soak bread in the sauce, let it be no more than what you put in your mouth at one time—put not another bit into your mouth until the former be swollowed—let not your morsels be too big for your jaws.

"Cleanse not your teeth with the table cloth or the napkin—but if others do it, let it be done with a tooth-pick.

"When it is your time to talk—talk not with food in your mouth.

"When you speak of God or His attributes—let it be seriously and with reverence."
